

HINT LEADER MAY BE GIVEN FEDERAL POST

HARRISBURG (AP) — Former Gov. George M. Leader says he has no particular ambitions for a job with the administration of the President-elect Kennedy.

But neither did the York County Democrat rule out such a possibility in commenting Friday on reports his name was discussed among other Pennsylvania Democratic leaders for recommendation to a top job with the new administration in Washington.

"Whether or not I would consider it would depend on a lot of things," Leader said in a telephone interview from his home near Dover. "I can only repeat I have no particular ambitions to go to Washington."

WAS GOVERNOR

Leader, who will be 43 next Jan. 17, served as governor from 1955-58.

The state's Democratic leaders met here with Gov. Lawrence in his office Thursday.

Democratic State Chairman John S. Rice, one of the participants, said the meeting was inconclusive.

"It was a round-robin discussion," he said, "to find out who we might have here in Pennsylvania (for top federal jobs): who might be interested and who might be qualified."

NOT MANY CANDIDATES

"Since we control the state of offices and Democrats are in office in most of the cities, we don't have too many candidates. It would be a different thing, for instance, if we had lost the governorship or something like that. But, you can understand, we don't have too many people looking for jobs."

"We don't have too many ex-governors and we lost only two congressmen."

The Democratic congressmen defeated in the Nov. 8 election were James M. Quigley of Camp Hill, Cumberland County, and Stanley A. Prokop of Lackawanna County.

Their names also were discussed.

TO SEND RECOMMENDATION

Rice said the final decision on recommendations, when made, would be forwarded to the Kennedy people in Washington.

Others attending the meetings were U. S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Mayor Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh, Secretary of Internal Affairs, Genevieve Blatt, Mrs. Louise M. John of West Chester, Democratic state vice chairman, and Dr. John L. Dorris, Luzerne County Democratic chairman.

U. S. Rep. William J. Green of Philadelphia and Michael F. Lawrence, Lackawanna County Democratic leader, were in telephone contact with the meeting.

Hearts Of Some Men Are Heavy With Anguish, Some Are Light With Hope As New Year Arrives

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
NEW YORK (AP)—Late tonight the hands of the clock will merge precisely. As midnight!

Time, as measured by man, will die for a flashing instant. And instantly it will be reborn.

The year 1960 ends; 1961 begins. But time, in this brief void, cannot be measured by man as he would measure a meadow—in rods. Nor as he would measure an ocean—in miles.

Time, in this instant, is a heartbeat and can be found in the hearts of men—some heavy with anguish, some light with hope.

Pope John XXIII, at his special New Year's audience for diplomats, spoke of the anxiety in his heart.

LAOS BLOOD BATH

But he also said he was searching on the dawn of this new year "to find, in the uncertainty of an agitated world, some glimmer promising serenity."

As the 79-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church spoke, man fought man on the continents of Europe, Asia and Africa.

In Asia, it was the blood bath in Laos.

In Europe, it was rioting in Belgium.

PUBLIC ASKED TO HELP FEED HUNGRY BIRDS

The plight of the county's bird population as a result of the heavy snowfall which has covered natural food sources since December 11 brought several appeals to The Times today.

A number were requests that the public be asked to feed the birds. Game protectors asked those putting out food to "keep it away from roads."

At Biglerville Kenneth Guise reported members of the Ira Lady Post of the American Legion, who have been providing grain for pheasants since the snow storm, plan a safari Monday evening against the crows which they claim drive off the pheasants and eat the food put out for the game birds.

Guise said "everyone is welcome" to join the Legionnaires who plan to meet Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the post home in Biglerville. Guise said, "We know where the crows are." Those joining the group are asked to bring their own weapons and ammunition and a contribution to purchase grain for the pheasants. Farmers who may wish to donate some grain, Guise suggested.

Charles W. Culp Jr. reported flocks of "up to 25 pheasants" in the Colt Park-Long Lane area which seem to "be in pretty bad shape."

Game Protector Paul Glenny said quail are in worse shape than the pheasants. Game protectors have been feeding the pheasants, quail and wild turkeys in the mountains.

AMBULANCES RESPONDED TO 476 '60 CALLS

Gettysburg's fire department ambulances have responded to 476 calls this year, including 61 to auto accidents.

The volunteer firemen who man the ambulance on an "on call" basis, delivered two children during the year when the speeding wheels of the ambulance could not outrun the wings of the stork. On a number of other occasions they left the engine house "to take a woman to the hospital" and found on their arrival at the home that they had a "mother and child" to drive to the hospital.

While the majority of the calls were to remove a patient to or from the hospital, the 54 men who staff the ambulances found their work greatly varied.

VARIETY OF EMERGENCIES

For example there were persons who shot themselves with rifles accidentally; two men stabbed in a brawl, a number who fell on ice, in their homes, on cellar steps and from trees and broke arms or legs; boys who fell off trucks, off bicycles and off rocks at Devil's Den and suffered injuries necessitating use of the ambulance. In one case a tractor fell on a man; in several other instances children were hit by cars. In one instance a television antenna fell on a local man.

The work in connection with the auto accidents seldom was pleasant and sometimes involved securing rescue equipment, also manned by the ambulance corps with the fire truck drivers, to pull cars apart before injured persons could be freed.

On several occasions the ambulance responded to requests of physician or family and on arrival found the patient adamant, "I'm not going to the hospital" and so the crew returned the ambulance empty to the engine house.

Thirty-one trips were made by the ambulance to hospitals outside the county area. The trips were to hospitals in York, Leitersburg, Gaithersburg, Baltimore, Lebanon, Chambersburg, Washington, Harrisburg, Bedford, Philadelphia and Trenton.

BILLED FOR TRIPS

While the ambulance service in the Adams County area is free of cost, many who utilize the service make donations. Some insist on bills.

Trips to cities outside the general area, such as York, Harrisburg, Washington, are not considered part of the free service and bills are rendered on a 25-cent-a-mile basis for such trips. Ambulance drivers who make the trips involving a number of hours of travel are given funds to cover meals during the trip.

At one time this year, a local person thought it fun to call for an ambulance and then watch the crew when they arrived to find no patient at the home to which they were sent. A system was worked out with the telephone company and a tracer put on the calls. After about seven false calls, the person was located and has since discontinued the practice.

DECEMBER IS COLDEST HERE IN 43 YEARS

The coldest December since 1917 and the second coldest December in 57 years of Gettysburg weather station files went into the records today.

Only December, 1917, which occurred in the winter that holds most of the records locally as the snowiest here in more than half a century, was colder than the month ending today.

Many records were set for low temperatures on particular dates this month.

The month's average temperature was 25.64 degrees, almost seven degrees below freezing. The all-time record low for December here is 24.2 degrees in 1917.

13 FREEZING DAYS

The daily low temperatures averaged 15.5 degrees and the average "high" readings each day came to 35.7 degrees. There were 13 days this month when the temperatures never climbed above the freezing mark.

Three snows this month totaled 15.5 inches in Gettysburg but some parts of the county received several inches more. It was the heaviest December snowfall in 57 years. The record of 18.5 inches for the month is held by December in 1904 and 1951.

The low temperatures that marked the month just ending were the lowest in any December here in 18 years. The December record of 14 below zero was set in 1942 and still stands. The low reading this month was 9 below zero on December 23. Next coldest day was the 24th when the temperature was 3 below zero.

SNOW SINCE DEC. 11

Last year in December, temperatures averaged 36.25 degrees, almost three degrees above normal.

Gettysburg and Adams County have been covered with snow since Sunday, December 11, when 9 inches fell here. Five inches were added on December 21 and there was another 1.5 inches on the 29th. The only rain that fell all month came as freezing rain and sleet Thursday night.

The heavy snow closed schools for two days, December 12 and 13, and snow removal crews had steady work for the last three weeks.

Escape Injury In Crash In Virginia

Mrs. Sarah Black Gideon and son, William, Baltimore St., escaped injury Friday evening when their car was struck by another automobile near Warrenton, Va.

Mrs. Gideon and her son were returning from a Christmas holiday spent at Boone, N. C., as guests of Dr. and Mrs. John Van Noppen, when their car was struck.

Mrs. Gideon had slowed her vehicle to turn into the Warrenton Motor Lodge along Rt. 15 near Warrenton when an auto following her car operated by J. W. McAdoo, New York City, skidded on the icy highway and his car struck the rear of the Gideon vehicle, causing $900 damage to the local car and $200 to the New York auto. No one was injured in the crash.

Peru Breaks Relations With Cuba; Other Latin Americans Are Expected To Sever Ties

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Peru broke off diplomatic relations with Cuba in a move that diplomats say may trigger off a mass move by Latin American governments to isolate the Fidel Castro regime.

Growing anger among leaders of hemispheric neighbors was evident over the activities of Cuban agents charged with spreading revolutionary propaganda among the masses.

Uruguayan President Benito Marrone told an interviewer Friday night that his government may expel the Cuban ambassador in Montevideo and cut all ties with Havana.

There was speculation among diplomats in Lima that Colombia, Venezuela and Chile may follow suit and freeze out Castro agents.

SEEK PANAMA BREAK

A petition was being circulated in Panama appealing to President Roberto Chiari to break diplomatic and trade relations with Cuba.

Five other Latin American countries—Guatemala, Haiti, Nicaragua, Paraguay and the Dominican Republic—have withdrawn their top diplomats from Havana. The Peruvian government accused the Cuban Embassy with "evident interference" in Peru's internal affairs by handing out Communist revolutionary propaganda among other acts.

In one of the strongest denunciations of Castro's regime by a South American government, Peru declared, "The foreign affairs policy of the current Cuban government violates all standards of international law."

Havana was charged with subsidizing subversive agents to incite "destruction of the legally constituted authority of public powers, those of the Catholic Church and of the armed forces."

The Cuban charge d'affaires was ordered to get out of Peru as soon as possible and take with him all other members of his staff.

Opposition against Castro was reported narrowing inside Cuba itself. A clandestine radio Friday night denounced his regime in a broadcast the announcer said was coming from "somewhere in the free territory of Cuba."

CALL FOR UNITY

Underground sources had put out word of the impending broadcast and it came on right on schedule at 9 p.m. with a 15-minute-long manifesto calling for "unity in the struggle for freedom."

Fidel Castro showed no outward concern. The prime minister planned a big New Year's supper dance and invited thousands of foreigners—including about 400 Americans—to see the "glorious achievements" of his revolution.

Says 7 Communist Battalions Have Invaded Northeast Laos

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Boun Oum's pro-Western government announced today seven Communist North Vietnamese battalions supported by artillery had invaded northeast Laos and were attacking the town of Nonget.

Prince Boun's office said his Southeast Asian kingdom, which the United States supports with military and financial aid, "reserves the right to appeal to friendly countries" if the invasion is not halted.

Word of the attack came in intelligence reports from the commander of the mountainous second military region, the government said.

(In Singapore, a British diplomatic source said information received there did not indicate any invasion of Laos had taken place. "Our information indicates these reports should be discounted," the source said.)

Western military observers in Vientiane expressed surprise at the urgency of a communique issued by the premier's office and said it indicated the situation was serious.

Reinforcements were being rushed to the invaded area, the communique said.

GAVE MILITARY AID

The United States has poured $300 million in military aid into Laos in five years. The Soviet Union is air-dropping military supplies to leftist forces led by paratrooper Capt. Kong Le. Premier Boun's arch foe who was driven from Vientiane Dec. 15.

Leftist Pathet Lao troops, another faction in the six-year-old Laotian war, have been supplied by Red North Viet Nam.

Western military experts in Vientiane said there have been unconfirmed reports for two or three weeks that four and possibly five Vietnamese battalions were operating along the mountainous northeast Laotian border.

But reports from this area — Xiangkhouang Province — have not always been entirely correct due to poor communications, military experts said.

North Viet Nam radio in Hanoi broadcast a denial that an invasion had begun.

RADIO APPEAL FAILS TO FOOL POLICE CHIEF

MEDWAY, Mass. (AP)—Ronald Greene, 26, an announcer for radio station WMRC, went on the air Friday night with his usual program of recorded music and newscasts.

Several times he asked his audience to notify police immediately if they had information about a hit-and-run motorist who earlier had struck and killed a Medway boy.

Police Chief William Giallonardo was standing just outside the broadcast studio when Greene completed his final news announcement and arrested him as the hit-and-run driver.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Greene was booked on a manslaughter charge early today in the death of Domenick de Fazio, 12.

The boy was killed by an automobile while wheeling his bicycle along Route 109 Friday. The motorist did not stop.

Giallonardo said a fender ornament about the size of a half-dollar found near the scene led to Greene's arrest.

He said it matched a piece missing from an automobile parked in the municipal parking lot. The car was traced through its registration number as Greene's.

WEST GERMANY REDS RENEW TRADE PACT

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany signed a new trade agreement with the Soviet Union today that leaves unchanged the economic status of West Berlin.

West Berlin was not specifically mentioned in the treaty. But Deputy Foreign Minister Hilger van Scherpenberg gave Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov a statement saying the new trade agreement's area of application will be the same as that of the present one, which expires at midnight.

Smirnov's acceptance of the statement indicated the unofficial tolerance shown by the Soviet Union toward West Berlin being treated as part of the economy of West Germany will continue under the new three-year agreement.

DEADLOCK DEVELOPED

This much of a guarantee on West Berlin was less than the West German government previously sought. At the first scheduled signing ceremony on Dec. 12 the Soviet Union balked at accepting a stronger statement, and an indefinite postponement resulted.

A letter was presented to Smirnov at that time stating the new trade agreement would apply to all the area where the West German mark is used, including West Berlin. Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano said then it was better to postpone the signing until "the area of application" could be clarified to prevent future "misunderstandings."

The Soviets objected, saying a "political question" had been raised and indicated it was up to West Germany to end the deadlock.

HINT LEADER MAY BE GIVEN FEDERAL POST

HARRISBURG (AP) — Former Gov. George M. Leader says he has no particular ambitions for a job with the administration of the President-elect Kennedy.

But neither did the York County Democrat rule out such a possibility in commenting Friday on reports his name was discussed among other Pennsylvania Democratic leaders for recommendation to a top job with the new administration in Washington.

"Whether or not I would consider it would depend on a lot of things," Leader said in a telephone interview from his home near Dover. "I can only repeat I have no personal ambitions to go to Washington."

WAS GOVERNOR

Leader, who will be 43 next Jan. 17, served as governor from 1955-58.

The state's Democratic leaders met here with Gov. Lawrence in his office Thursday.

Democratic State Chairman John S. Rice, one of the participants, said the meeting was inconclusive.

"It was a round-robin discussion," he said, "to find out who we might have here in Pennsylvania (for top federal jobs); who might be interested and who might be qualified."

NOT MANY CANDIDATES

"Since we control the state of offices and Democrats are in office in most of the cities, we don't have too many candidates. It would be a different thing, for instance, if we had lost the governorship or something like that. But, you can understand, we don't have too many people looking for jobs."

"We don't have too many ex-governors and we lost only two congressmen."

The Democratic congressmen defeated in the Nov. 8 election were James M. Quigley of Camp Hill, Cumberland County, and Stanley A. Prokop of Lackawanna County.

Their names also were discussed.

TO SEND RECOMMENDATION

Rice said the final decision on recommendations, when made, would be forwarded to the Kennedy people in Washington.

Others attending the meetings were U. S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Mayor Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh, Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt, Mrs. Louise M. John of West Chester (Democratic state vice chairman), and Dr. John L. Dorris, Luzerne County Democratic chairman.

U. S. Rep. William J. Green of Philadelphia and Michael F. Lawler, Lackawanna County Democratic leader, were in telephone contact with the meeting.

STEEL OUTPUT SURPLUS TO A 20-YEAR LOW

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Business wallowed in the usual between-holiday doldrums this week but complications were more than seasonal.

This was particularly true in the giant steel and automobile industries. Steel output slumped to the lowest level for a nonstrike period in more than 20 years. Estimated production was 1,122,000 tons, or 39.4 per cent of capacity, compared with 1,325,000 tons, or 46.5 per cent the preceding week.

An improvement in orders is expected in January but an upturn to about 60 per cent of capacity isn't anticipated until March.

CUTS AUTO OPERATIONS

The automakers cut their operations sharply because of low sales and high inventories. The week's production was estimated at 84,909 passenger cars, down from 115,115 last week and 112,113 in the comparable week last year.

New car sales in the middle 10 days of December were among the lowest for the period in recent years. Dealers sold about 142,000 cars, compared with 160,180 the first 10 days of the month. Sales usually increase as the month progresses.

Dealers had more than one million cars on their hands, indicating that production will be curtailed in January and February. The No. 3 automaker, Studebaker-Packard Corp., got a new president in 40-year-old Sherwood H. Egbert of Los Angeles, who said his aim would be to strengthen the company's position in the industry.

The Commerce Department reported some disappointing manufacturing statistics for November. It said sales declined $360 million from October to $29.6 billion, inventories went down $340 million to $54.2 billion and new orders fell $220 million to $28.7 billion.

Today's Talk

THIS 31ST DAY
There are lots of 31st days. But this one is unusual. It's the last day of 1960. This waning year will soon be gone with all its joys, its sadness, its perplexities, its regrets, its wonderment.
But 1960, you were worthwhile. Let us not be wrapped up in the thought of things that "might have been." Let us say, rather, that we were wiser and better and that tomorrow will be not only another day, but the very birth of another year that shall be for us an opportunity of great proportion.

It is never too late to mend. It is never too late to do better—to be greater.
It is so infinitely better to live in the now, rather than the then. Pass on. This is the 31st day. Tomorrow shall be the 1st—of a brand new baby year.

Do something with it. Do more. Give more. Live more. Let us find in the upcoming New Year that solidity of soul that never lets us down under pressure—or anything.

Goodbye, 1960. Thank you for what you gave. Thank you for what you took away. Thank you for everything. We are smiling, 1960, don't you see?

And we are going to carry our smiles over into 1961. For that little new fellow is going to need a lot of smiles before he, too, gets to his 31st day. Perhaps a two-line prayer to the great God of folks everywhere might be in order: "Help me to forget and to grow—to get new. That is all, God."

Goodbye, 1960. Goodbye!

Just Folks

THOUGHT FOR THE NEW YEAR
From the hands of time the hours are thrown;

With the sixtieth minute will each have flown.

But with every one comes the golden chance
For a gracious deed or a step's advance;

And the year will be, when we've lived it through,
Just the mirror of men like me and you.

A Happy New Year! We can make it so
Wherever we stay or wherever we go.

It's a troubled world, but 'tis truth I pen,
The blame must lie on the hearts of men.

But most of the woes would soon dissipate
With a little more love and less of hate.

So here's to us all, the great, the low!
May we seize the minutes that come and go

And use them bravely and use them well
And brighten the place wherever we dwell.

May we all achieve as we labor here
Some goal that will make it a happy year.

Says 7 Communist Battalions Have Invaded Northeast Laos

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Boun Oum's pro-Western government announced today seven Communist North Vietnamese battalions supported by artillery had invaded northeast Laos and were attacking the town of Non-gut.

Prince Boun's office said his Southeast Asian kingdom, which the United States supports with military and financial aid, "reserves the right to appeal to friendly countries" if the invasion is not halted.

Word of the attack came in intelligence reports from the commander of the mountainous second military region, the government said.

(In Singapore, a British diplomatic source said information received there did not indicate any invasion of Laos had taken place. "Our information indicates these reports should be discounted," the source said.)

Western military observers in Vientiane expressed surprise at the urgency of a communique issued by the premier's office and said it indicated the situation was serious.

Reinforcements were being rushed to the invaded area, the communique said.

GAVE MILITARY AID

The United States has poured $300 million in military aid into Laos in five years. The Soviet Union is airdropping military supplies to leftist forces led by paratrooper Capt. Kong Le, Premier Boun's arch foe who was driven from Vientiane Dec. 15.

Leftist Pathet Lao troops, another faction in the six-year-old Laotian war, have been supplied by Red North Viet Nam.

Western military experts in Vientiane said there have been unconfirmed reports for two or three weeks that four and possibly five Vietnamese battalions were operating along the mountainous northeast Laotian border.

But reports from this area — Xiengkhouang Province — have not always been entirely correct due to poor communications, military experts said.

North Viet Nam radio in Hanoi broadcast a denial that an invasion had begun.

Orrtanna

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baker, Baltimore, were holiday guests of Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Wetzel. Other guests at the Wetzel home were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wampler and family of York.

Richard Weaver, Hagerstown, visited Wednesday with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pepple.

Karen Christine has been chosen as the name for the daughter born recently at the Warner Hospital at the Warner Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. William Weigle, Gettysburg R. 2. This is their fourth child and all are daughters. Mrs. Weigle is the former Genevieve Wetzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wetzel. Both mother and child are doing nicely.

RADIO APPEAL FAILS TO FOOL POLICE CHIEF

MEDWAY, Mass. (AP)—Ronald Greene, 26, an announcer for radio station WMRC, went on the air Friday night with his usual program of recorded music and newscasts.

Several times he asked his audience to notify police immediately if they had information about a hit-and-run motorist who earlier had struck and killed a Medway boy.

Police Chief William Giallardo was standing just outside the broadcast studio when Greene completed his final news announcement and arrested him as the hit-and-run driver.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Greene was booked on a manslaughter charge early today in the death of Domenick de Fazio, 12.

The boy was killed by an automobile while wheeling his bicycle along Route 109 Friday. The motorist did not stop.

Giallardo said a fender ornament about the size of a half-dollar found near the scene led to Greene's arrest.

He said it matched a piece missing from an automobile parked in the municipal parking lot. The car was traced through its registration number as Greene's.

WEST GERMANY REDS RENEW TRADE PACT

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany signed a new trade agreement with the Soviet Union today that leaves unchanged the economic status of West Berlin.

West Berlin was not specifically mentioned in the treaty. But Deputy Foreign Minister Hilger van Scherpenberg gave Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov a statement saying the new trade agreement's area of application will be the same as that of the present one, which expires at midnight.

Smirnov's acceptance of the statement indicated the unofficial tolerance shown by the Soviet Union toward West Berlin being treated as part of the economy of West Germany will continue under the new three-year agreement.

DEADLOCK DEVELOPED

This much of a guarantee on West Berlin was less than the West German government previously sought. At the first scheduled signing ceremony on Dec. 12 the Soviet Union balked at accepting a stronger statement, and an indefinite postponement resulted.

A letter was presented to Smirnov at that time stating the new trade agreement would apply to all the area where the West German mark is used, including West Berlin. Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano said then it was better to postpone the signing until "the area of application" could be clarified to prevent future "misunderstandings."

The Soviets objected, saying a "political question" had been raised and indicated it was up to West Germany to end the deadlock.

Building Year Forecast For Waynesboro Squad; Call Up Trio Of Sophs

(Final in a series of articles on prospects of South Penn basketball teams.)

By JESS GARBER
Waynesboro Record Herald
WAYNESBORO — Pre-Christmas results of games played by the Waynesboro Area High School Indians point to a "building year" for the Tribe and Coach George H. Gottshall.

Winning only two of the seven games played before the holidays the Indians are hardly expected to hit consistent winning form until the latter half of the season.

Gottshall-coached teams won 51 games and lost 33 over the past four years and he had only one losing season, that by a 10-11 margin.

In each of the four seasons Gottshall was able to count on the scoring ability of outstanding seniors, such as Russell Hopewell, Mike Crist, Tucker Shade and Bob Stoops. And he usually carried a balanced squad of six seniors and six juniors.

Presently he is working with three seniors, six juniors and three sophomores. He called up the sophomores after the first few games, convinced he had to bolster the squad.

JUNIORS SET PACE

To date two juniors have carried the scoring load. Jeff Hovis, 5-10, is averaging nearly 14 points per game, and Russell Zuck, a 6-5 skyscraper, is averaging 13 points and has proved a key rebounder.

Only one senior, 5-9 Don Eakle, is averaging in double figures at 10 per game. Other seniors include Orville Cronauer, 6 feet; and Keith Vinson, 6-2. Cronauer has relatively little experience but is a scrapper. Vinson, counted on as a key player this year, is still nursing a broken hand received in football.

Gottshall had counted on two other senior returnees but one declined to report, and other dropped off the squad after the first week of play.

Other seniors who have been developing include 5-10 Dick Loy and 5-9 Mike Oiler. Harold Myers and Kenneth Baum also moved up from last year's jays and could develop into starters.

Sophomores moved up include 5-10 Don Hovis, Gary Barton and Dave Pyle. Gottshall hopes to use them to spell the starters, since the Indians run out of gas in early games.

The Tribe lost 39-56 to open against a good South Hagerstown team, then bounced back to topple Scotland 69-47. Then came four losses in a row before the Indians gave Gottshall a 63-44 Christmas present win over North Hagerstown.

Indications are Gottshall should have a line 1961-62 team. Waynesboro fans are hoping he can turn the hands on the clock of time ahead by about a year.

COACHES ARE AT ODDS OVER TEAM WEIGHTS

DALLAS (AP)—Coaches Frank Broyles of Arkansas and Bill Murray of Duke told each other how good the other's team was today while preparing to beat its ears off in the Cotton Bowl Monday.

Murray said Arkansas was the quickest team he had seen this season and that it "comes nearer going at everything 100 per cent."

Broyles said Duke had a powerful running game and excellent passing and that he thought it gave 100 per cent even in its defeats.

ARGUE ABOUT WEIGHT

The argument the two coaches had—through the writers—about the Arkansas weights, with Murray claiming they were incorrect in the Cotton Bowl program and Broyles saying they were substantially correct, simmered down some when the two coaches took their first 22 players and arrived at an average. Arkansas, it appeared, averaged 192 to 195 pounds to the man and Duke 205.

Anyway, Broyles said he figured Duke would have an advantage if it's a muddy field because of the superior weight.

The Weather Bureau says prospects indicate there won't be any rain Monday but it can make no positive forecast. Rain set in early today.

L-TOWN TAKES TOURNAMENT; HONOR BENNER

Littlestown High captured the first Susquehanna invitation basketball tournament by nipping Central of North York 57-56 in the championship game Friday evening.

The game was close all the way and in the final period seven of Littlestown 15 points came on foul conversions when the Panthers attempted to secure possession of the ball.

Jack Bream's Bolts, defending Adams County Division champs, played a deliberate style of ball to off-set the fast break and fine ball handling of Central and the ruse paid dividends.

MOST VALUABLE

Bob Benner, Littlestown 6-4 ace, was given the most valuable player award for the tournament.

It was a team effort all the way for Littlestown with Gene Apple being outstanding beneath the boards, Larry Snyder starring on his floor game and Benner, Larry Weikert, Bill Bowers and Bair turning in fine all-around games.

Central took a 19-13 lead in the first period but the Bolts edged ahead 28-26 at half time. Going into the final frame the teams were deadlocked at 42-42.

A goal by Central with 30 seconds remaining cut the Bolts' lead to one point but the Panthers were unable to get off another shot.

Littlestown held the edge on rebounding, 38-36. The Bolts netted 23 shots from the floor on 60 tries while Central made good on 22 of 57.

Bair, Benner and Weikert netted 17, 16 and 12 respectively for the winners. Brian Young topped the Panthers with 22.

Dallastown downed Susquehanna 55-53 in the consolation tilt. Littlestown has now won four straight to make its record 4-2.

The Bolts play at Greencastle Tuesday in an Adams-Franklin League game.

KILMER SIGNS WITH 49'ERS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Arming their "shotgun" offense for 1961, the San Francisco 49ers signed UCLA star Bill Kilmer, grabbing him before the Los Angeles Chargers did.

Kilmer put his name to a contract Friday in the office of Coach Red Hickey who sized him up as a great potential gunner for the 49ers' new spread.

The UCLA tailback led the nation in total offense last fall with 1,889 yards. He was drafted by the 49ers as a first-round pick.

In the American Football League draft, he had been tapped by the Chargers.

Kilmer rushed for 803 yards and passed for 1,086 for the UCLA's. In the shotgun offense, the quarterback stands about 7 yards behind center and takes a direct snap. Then he can either pass, run or hand off to a fullback or halfback.

John Brodie, not noted as a runner, made the offense click as its quarterback in the final four 49er games as San Francisco won three of them.

Celtics Take Lead As Warriors Lose

UNDATED NBA ROUNDUP

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Celtics were back in sole possession of first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association today chiefly because of the fine shooting of Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson.

The Celtics downed the New York Knickerbockers 120-106 Friday night. Robertson got into the act by pacing the Cincinnati Royals to 136-130 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors. The two results gave the Celtics a game lead over the Warriors.

In other games, the St. Louis Hawks, Western Division pacemakers, beat the Los Angeles Lakers 107-99 in the second game of a doubleheader which saw Detroit turn back Syracuse 121-112 in the opener. The twin bill was played at St. Louis.

Robertson, held to nine points in the first half, broke loose for 29 in the final two quarters to help offset a 49-point performance by Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain.

Ohio State is favorite, but ace Jerry Lucas has been battling the flu all through the tournament and missed practice Friday.

Duke, ranked No. 6 in the country—also undefeated—and North Carolina, which just missed the top 10 in this week's voting, gained their final spots in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C., Friday night.

The Blue Devils, sparked by Art

A whole fistful of tournaments were decided Friday night. Here's how they went:

In the consolation game Chip Lundy collected 26 points to highlight Lafayette's 62-49 victory over Lehigh.

Upsala Invitational at East Orange, N. J.—Susquehanna University defeated host Upsala 74-59 as substitute Tom McCarrick, a 6-7 freshman, entered the game early in the first half and came up with 26 points for Susquehanna to gain scoring honors.

HAD 7-POINT LEAD

Duke built up a seven-point margin over Marquette early in the second half but with 11:20 remaining, Marquette pulled ahead on a field goal by Len Jefferson. Then sophomore Heyman caught fire and Duke pulled in front for good.

Navy staved off a closing ball-stealing act by Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl final. Dave Tremaine scored the winners' last eight points.

Iowa, trailing by four points at the half, found the range in the second half and finally went ahead at 48-47. Don Nelson was high man with 26 points.

OTHER GAMES

While all the tournament hoopla was going on, Bradley, No. 2 team in the country stayed in its own Peoria, Ill., backyard and defeated Dartmouth, 92-60. The victory was Bradley's 10th of the campaign and 16th straight since last season.

In other major games, Butler stopped Yale, 71-64; Rice edged Clemson, 66-65; De Paul won its seventh straight by polishing off Western Michigan, 81-60, and Los Angeles State halted Bowling Green, 82-78.

Barons Strengthen Hold On 2nd Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cleveland's hold on second place in the American Hockey League was a little more secure today thanks to Greig Hicks.

The center came through with a goal at 2:19 of a sudden overtime period Friday night and gave the Barons a 4-3 triumph over the Providence Reds. The triumph increased Cleveland's margin over third place Quebec to three points.

The Rochester Americans moved into a tie with Hershey for fifth place by downing the Buffalo Bisons 4-2 on two rapid scoring spears which netted two goals each time. The result left the Bisons only two points in front of Hershey and Rochester.

Chargers Look For Upset Over Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Los Angeles Chargers, losers in Houston's first American Football League game, worked out today with hopes of closing the season with an upset victory.

The Chargers and the Houston Oilers meet in the AFL's first championship game Sunday before an expected 25,000 persons and a national television audience—ABC, 2:30 p. m., CST. Houston is a 6½ point favorite.

The Chargers lost to Houston, 38-28, in the Oilers' first league home game in September, and won, 24-21, on a muddy field in Los Angeles later.

The Chargers, with 10-4 record, won the league's Western Division. Houston, also 10-4, won the Eastern Division.

PACK WEIGHT
The line averages 210 pounds with Barber the heaviest man at 233 and Stratiff the lightest at 190. Tomasko, who weighs only 165 pounds, is the lightest man in the backfield which averages 136 pounds in weight. The weights of the other three backs range from 190 to 195.

The seniors on the team are Ditka, Barber, Stratiff, Caparao, Terhes and Tomasko. With the exception of Iacone, a sophomore, the four others are juniors.

Pitt also landed a man on the second team—end Steve Jastrzembski.

Other second team members are end Ray Ronchi, Mansfield; Tackles Bruce Olderman, Allegheny, and Reed B. Hovich, Lehigh; guards Bill Popp, Penn State, and Bob Cloughy, Clarion; center is Richard Wolslayer, East Stroudsburg; backs Ron Puhl, Lock Haven, Dick Hoak, Penn State, Jim Pribula, West Chester and Gary Chapman, Albright.

DITKA LEADS CHOICE

Ditka, who was the No. 1 choice of the Chicago Bears in the National Football League draft, was almost a unanimous selection.

Vignali anchored the fearsome Pitt line and Cox led the Panthers in scoring.

Mittinger and Barber helped Penn State to a winning season and then a smashing victory over Oregon in the Liberty Bowl.

Iacone led the nation's small college ground gainers and scored 66 points in leading West Chester to a perfect season.

Caparao was a standout blocker on offense and also anchored the West Chester defense.

Reagan was an outstanding lineman for his team, which yielded just over 60 yards a game on the ground.

Stratiff was a two-way star at Thiel, playing middle guard on defense.

Tomasko scored 80 points at F&M, although his team lost six games.

Terhes, an exceptional passer, was an early pro draft choice in both the American and National Football League.

PLAY ABOUT HALF

"He's healed but he hasn't hit the conditioning and timing he had in midseason," said Owens. "He'll play at least half the time, though."

Westerners who watched Schloredt transform Washington into a team of dash and daring last year are sure the 197-pound 6-footer will be in the thick of it.

Washington and Minnesota coaching staffs agree that the starter, Bob Hyvner, is a quarterback of high ability. He demonstrated it by leading the Huskies through one tight scrape after another in the last season.

ONE-EYED STAR

Yet, assuming Schloredt is in close to top form, this is a man with greater game-breaking potential.

The one-eyed star is a hard-socking runner on rollout plays, a good passer with a habit of delivering in the tight spots and one of the better college kickers.

Minnesota remained a 6½-point favorite 48 hours before its first Rose Bowl appearance in history. Sunny skies, with temperatures in the 70s, are forecast for Monday.

Today's Talk

THIS 31ST DAY

There are lots of 31st days. But this one is unusual. It's the last day of 1960. This waning year will soon be gone with all its joys, its sadness, its perplexities, its regrets, its wonderment.

But 1960, you were worthwhile. Let us not be wrapped up in the thought of things that "might have been." Let us say, rather, that we are wiser and better and that tomorrow will be not only another day, but the very birth of another year that shall be for us an opportunity of great proportion.

It is never too late to mend. It is never too late to do better—to be greater.

It is so infinitely better to live in the now, rather than the then. Pass on. This is the 31st day. Tomorrow shall be the 1st—of a brand new baby year.

Do something with it. Do more. Give more. Live more. Let us find in the upcoming New Year that solidity of soul that never lets us down under pressure—or anything.

Goodbye, 1960. Thank you for what you gave. Thank you for what you took away. Thank you for everything. We are smiling, 1960, don't you see?

And we are going to carry our smiles over into 1961. For that little new fellow is going to need a lot of smiles before he, too, gets to his 31st day. Perhaps a two-line prayer to the great God of folks everywhere might be in order: "Help me to forget and to grow—to get new. That is all, God."

Goodbye, 1960. Goodbye!

Just Folks

THOUGHT FOR THE NEW YEAR

From the hands of time the hours are thrown;
With the sixtieth minute will each have flown.But with every one comes the golden chance
For a gracious deed or a step's advance;And the year will be, when we've lived it through,
Just the mirror of men like me and you.A Happy New Year! We can make it so
Wherever we stay or wherever we go.It's a troubled world, but 'tis truth I pen,
The blame must lie on the hearts of men.But most of the woes would soon dissipate
With a little more love and less of hate.So here's to us all, the great, the low!
May we seize the minutes that come and goAnd use them bravely and use them well
And brighten the place wherever we dwell.May we all achieve as we labor here
Some goal that will make it a happy year.

Sledding Mishaps Kill 2 Children

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sledding accidents killed two young persons in western Pennsylvania Friday—an 11-year-old boy in Pittsburgh and a seven-year-old girl in Johnstown.

David Buchsbaum of Pittsburgh's Squirrel Hill section smashed against a car near his home while he was riding his sled down a hill. Police said the boy lay unconscious in the street for about 10 minutes before a passing motorist spotted him.

He was rushed to Homestead Hospital where two physicians tried to save his life by massaging his heart. David died a short time later from a head injury.

In Johnstown, Sherry Lynn Levergood was crushed to death under a delivery truck. Police said she coasted from one street onto another and was crushed beneath the left rear wheel of the truck.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

BERCAW FAMILY BIBLE

The genealogical notes pertaining to the Bercau (or Brokaw) family of the Low Dutch Settlement of the Conewago are concluded in this column.

The following data was taken from the files of the "Adams Sentinel" (later the "Star and Sentinel") and can be found under the dates given:

18. Monday, November 17, 1855—
"Married, December 11, 1855, by the Rev. Mr. Gerhart, of this county, Mr. George Martzen to Miss Mary Ann Bercau, both of Mount Pleasant Twp., this county."

Note:—Mary Ann Bercau was probably a granddaughter of either Peter or George Bercau—but her "exact twig" on the family tree is not known at this time.

19. Monday, November 8, 1858—
"Married, November 4, 1858, by the Rev. Jacob Zeigler, of this place, Mr. Peter W. Wanner to Miss Margaret A. Bercau, both of Straban Twp., this county."

PIONEER SETTLERS

Note:—Margaret Bercau was a daughter of John and Rachel Bercau and a granddaughter of George Bercau, who, in turn, was the son of George and Elizabeth Bercau, pioneer settlers in the Low Dutch Settlement of the Conewago.

Through the courtesy of a reader of this column the records from the family Bible of John Bercau, the son of George and Eleanor Bercau, are included in these notes on the Bercau family. For some reason or other the first two pages of this record were torn from the Bible and their present whereabouts is unknown. However, what remains is of great genealogical value and an exact transcript follows.

"John Bercau / his Bible bought / at Jacob Lashells' Store in the year / one thousand eight / hundred and sixteen / price one dollar and / twenty-five cents."

Note:—Below John Bercau's name, in a different handwriting, is the name "Abraham Bercau."

"Births—

"Maris Bercau, the daughter of John and Rachel Bercau, was born October 25, 1825.

"Isaac J. Bercau, the son of John and Rachel Bercau, was born August 2, 1828.

"Elizabeth Bercau, the daughter of John and Rachel Bercau, was born July 16, 1830.

BORN ON JULY 4

"Sarah C. Bercau, the daughter of John and Rachel Bercau, was born July 4, 1832.

"Rachel Bercau, the daughter of John and Rachel Bercau, was born July 4, 1832.

"Christian Bercau, the son of John and Rachel Bercau, was born April 5, 1835.

"Margaret Bercau, the daughter of John and Rachel Bercau, was born September 15, 1837.

"Deaths—

"Christian Bercau, the son of John and Rachel Bercau, died the 11th day of August, in the year 1839. He was aged 4 months and 6 days."

This concludes, unless additional information comes to light, the genealogical sketch of the Bercau (or Brokaw) family of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Ohio and points north, west and south.

4 UNMARKED GRAVES

The next family in the Low Dutch settlement to have a burial plot in the "Upper" Low Dutch Churchyard is the Kouenover (also spelled Kouenover, Cowover, and Conover) clan. It is interesting to note that the Conovers also buried in the "Lower" Dutch Graveyard—located at the south end of the colony.

In the "Upper" Burial Ground there are two unmarked graves and at least four unmarked ones in the Conover family plot. The inscriptions from the two grave-stones are as follows:—

1. "In memory of / Caty Cowover / who departed this life / July 19, 1822 / Aged 71 years."

2. "In memory of / John Cowover / who departed this life on / May 20, 1832 / Aged 85 years."

The obituaries of John Cowover and his wife, Caty Cowover, appeared in the "Adams Sentinel" under the dates given:—
1. Wednesday, July 24, 1822—
"Died, Monday morning, July 19, 1822, Mrs. Cowover, the wife of Mr. John Cowover, of Mount Pleasant Twp., this county."

2. Tuesday, May 22, 1832—
"Died, Sunday, May 20, 1832, at an advanced age, Mr. John Cowover Sr., of Mount Pleasant Twp., this county—an old soldier of the Revolution."

HAD FIVE CHILDREN

According to the baptismal records of the Dutch Reformed Church of the Conewago, John (or Jan) and Caty Cowover were the parents of the following children:—

1. "Baptized, October 10, 1779, Lammette Kouenover, the daughter of Jan and Catiena Kouenover."

2. "Baptized, August 12, 1781, Johanna Kouenover, the son of Jan and Catiena Kouenover."

3. "Baptized, February 15, 1784, William Kouenover, the son of Jan and Catiena Kouenover."

4. "Baptized, September 26, 1785, Catiena Kouenover, the daughter of Jan and Catiena (Covert) Kouenover."

5. "Baptized, August 19, 1792, Leanah Kouenover and Altie Kouenover, the twin daughters of Jan and Catiena Kouenover."

To judge by the above records Jan and Catiena (Covert) Kouenover were the parents of at least six children and there may have been others—church records of that period are seldom absolutely complete.

According to the notes of the Rev. Dr. J. K. Demorest, there were at Conewago as "heads of families, Cornelius and John (or Jan) Conover (or Covenover)."

The notes on the Conover (or Covenover) family of the Low Dutch Settlement of the Conewago will be continued in this column next week.

Collision Kills 2 North Of Bethesda

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—Two Pittsburgh sisters were killed in a small foreign-made station wagon that collided with the rear of a dump truck on Interstate Route 70S north of Bethesda Friday night.

Police identified them from papers on the bodies as Ruth Emily McMurry 68, and Dorothy McMurry.

They were pronounced dead upon arrival at Suburban Hospital, Bethesda. The driver of the dump truck, Woodrow Briscoe, 31, of Washington, D. C., was not hurt.

Police said the station wagon caught fire from the impact. The sisters' deaths were attributed to head injuries. The flames were extinguished by the Bethesda Fire Department before they reached the interior of the car.

No Escape For Inmates Tonight

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Despite a spirited effort, there will be no spirited New Year's celebration in the Tarrant County jail.

Sheriff's officers Friday night were thrown into a tizzy when they learned two young boys had reported a rope dangling from the fifth floor of the jail.

At the end of the improvised rope—made of bedsheets, newspapers and other things—officers found this note:

"Tomorrow night bring fishing line and liquor."

Officers confiscated the rope.

TRUMAN VS. MacARTHUR

Harry And Doug Exchange Yule Greetings They Confuse Their Roles In Recent History

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.

President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

Commander in Chief."

MR. TRUMAN is in another pointless argument. He celebrated Christmas by taking a microphone, verbal shot at the peacefully quiet and retired old warrior, Douglas MacArthur.

History has been kind to Mr. Truman. And on occasions when he did not feel it had been kind enough, unhesitatingly he has rewritten history to suit himself. For this Mr. Truman can show an honorable precedent.

In the decades before World War II, Winston Churchill often found himself out of favor and without a cabinet post. In such seasons, he would pass the time by adding another volume to his long and detailed history of World War I. The result was the most entertaining and informative account of the era.

BUT ITS READERS early detected one constantly recurring theme. It was to the effect that Winston Churchill had never made a mistake except when someone gave him the wrong information or when he, as First Lord of the Admiralty, had picked a man too small in ability or too timid in soul to carry out the great, masterful plans for victory instigated by the Honorable Winston Churchill.

A sour opponent in Parliament characterized the Churchill history as "Winston's private memoirs disguised as a history of the universe."

HAD GENERAL Douglas MacArthur chosen to brush aside Mr. Truman's televised revisions of the Korean War, he might well have characterized them as "Harry's public efforts at mind reading thoughts of others disguised as his own private memoirs."

But the general took immediate recourse to more forthright and less mistakable language. His counterblast bristled with such terms as "completely false," "equally fantastic," "equally untrue," and "complete perversion of history designed to cover up Mr. Truman's past failures."

IRV KUPCINET of the Chicago Sun-Times triggered the controversy with a taped, television interview with Mr. Truman. According to United Press International, the provocative remarks ran as follows:

Mr. Kupcinit: "Was there any pressure on you to release the A-bomb again in the Korean conflict?"

Mr. Truman: "Yes, MacArthur wanted to do that."

Mr. K.: "MacArthur did?"

Mr. T.: "Yes, he wanted to bomb China and Eastern Russia and everything else."

Mr. K.: "Use the atom bomb?"

Mr. T.: "Why, of course, that's the only weapon we had that they would understand."

Mr. K.: "This was one of the main reasons you recalled him?"

Mr. T.: "I recalled him for disobedience to orders. He was in private contact with the Republican minority leader in the House of Representatives, Joe Martin, and he had been warned that the Commander in Chief was still the

THE COMMANDER in Chief was then, of course, President Truman himself. It was in denial of the foregoing from the ex-President that General MacArthur unleashed his denunciation. He elaborated his position at the time by writing:

"We did not need the atom here (in the Korean War) any more than we did in the war against Japan."

And that puts the world shocking mistakes of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, August, 1945 (if they were mistakes, and General MacArthur here clearly says they were), squarely on the shoulders of the then President Truman.

Be it said here that Mr. Truman has never sought to duck any responsibility for these two atomic bombings of Japanese cities, in the twilight of World War II, right while Japan was making every effort to negotiate a peace on terms not vastly different from those given her after the bombings.

MR. TRUMAN, when caught strolling along Madison Avenue, by a New York reporter, brushed aside the general's counterblast and accusation by admitting he had no documentary proof of the general's alleged atomic desires in Korea.

As to the necessity for Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the ex-President said the bomb ended the war and that anybody could be a Monday morning quarterback. He further implied history would decide who was right.

ACTUALLY, it is an odd hassle. Mr. Truman is denouncing the general for wanting to do exactly what he (Mr. Truman) had previously done. The general put himself in the position of preferring a limited liability war, with its constant drain on his military manpower, rather than use the ultimate weapon, for which the military had so long dreamed, and at a time when America was then the only nation armed with such a weapon.

What the historians of the future may decide about this paradox would stagger the imagination of any modern Jeremiah.

Most likely, about the only thing historians in the immediate future will derive from this exchange is Mr. Truman's indirect, but nevertheless frank admission that his motives in recalling America's most competent general for the top job in the Far East were heavily loaded with party politics. Mr. Truman, as OTTAWA (AP)—A Communist Chinese trade delegation started a three or four month tour of Canada Friday amid speculation that it may be seeking wheat and other farm products.

Arrival of the two-man delegation in Montreal Thursday night coincided with a report by the official Peiping People's Daily that Red China in the past year suffered a "great calamity" with more than half its cultivated land hit by floods, drought and insect raids.

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Prime Minister John M. Chang's Democratic party won the gubernatorial elections Thursday. The opposition New Democratic party won three races and two were not yet decided.

Farm Agent Does Not See Expanded Economic Activity

By FRANK S. ZETTLER
Adams County Farm Agent

A year ago, business optimism was high and rising with a lot of emphasis on the soaring '60s. Obviously, these expectations have not been realized the first year of the decade. And the new year will not be one of greatly expanded economic activity.

Value of all goods and services produced in the United States for 1960 will be close to 504 billion dollars. This represents roughly a 5 per cent gain over 1959.

The 1961 prospect is for a further, but modest, increase, perhaps to 515-520 billion dollars. The current slowdown is expected to last until mid 1961.

FRANK S. ZETTLER with the last part of the year showing better performance.

BETTER SPENDING

Consumer spending, the most important single business factor, likely will be the same or a little better than in the passing year. It is easier to estimate total consumer spending than to predict expenditures for various classes of consumer goods. Most families today have more "discretionary" income than ever before. This is the amount of money left over after basic food, clothing and shelter needs are met. In the 1950's this money went in considerable measure for cars, appliances and "extras" in housing—the durable goods field. For the first half of the '60's a larger share of this durable goods buying will be replacement purchases. A lesser share of discretionary income is likely to go for these items.

Consumer spending for education and recreation will be increasing in the next few years. Some families with teen-age children may find themselves with less discretionary income in the next three or four years, because it costs approximately twice as much money to support a 15-year-old as it does to support a one-year-old child.

STEADY FOOD SALES

Retail food sales should continue to hold their steady upward trend as population continues to grow at a rate of almost 3 million people each year. A larger percentage of "teen and pre-teen" children is also expected to have a favorable effect on the total volume of retail food sales in the early '60's.

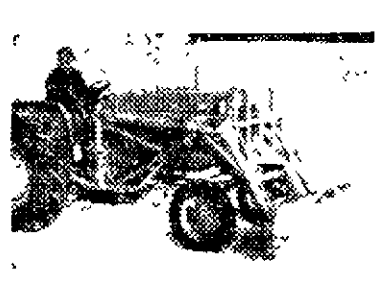

Consumer spending in the early '60's will be distributed over a wider range of goods and services than ever before. Incomes in 1961 will total very slightly above 1960, and the prices probably will not change significantly so purchasing power of the dollar will be about the same.

Changes in major farm laws in 1961 seem unlikely to agricultural economist at the Pennsylvania State University.

SEE PROGRAM CHANGES

However, they say it is obvious that the new secretary of agriculture will have enough authority under present laws to make substantial farm program changes.

These changes will likely be mainly in the area of increasing price supports. The secretary could also require acreage retirement as a condition for getting supports. Cross compliance and allotments also could be made applicable.

There seems to be little support in most farm states, the economists say, for the proposal by President-elect Kennedy which would guarantee a farm income based on holding sales of farm products to federally-determined quotas.

There may be increased emphasis and interest in the two price plan, especially as it applies to wheat. Under this system domestic prices would be maintained at a high level with the excess being exported at substantially lower prices.

Estimates put the total output of agricultural commodities on a continuing upward trend, starting with the drought of an effective control program. Farmers will continue to adapt new technology, which is generally output-increasing and per-unit, cost-reducing—in the intensified cost-price squeeze so long as it pays.

It is fairly obvious that agricultural production potential will continue to outpace the population growth in the 1960's. People can eat only so much food. Unless large amounts of food can be exported, the demand for food can grow only about as fast as the population. Thus, farm income will grow more slowly than nonfarm income because demand for non-farm products and services is not limited by appetite or capacity for food.

TANK SPLITS; MAN IS KILLED

PORT JERSEY, N. J. (AP)—A newly constructed 3,000-gallon oil storage tank split open and collapsed Friday after it was filled with water for a test under pressure.

An avalanche of water, steel and scaffolding killed one workman and injured seven others, one seriously.

The accident occurred in the yard of Hess, Inc., a fuel oil company.

A company spokesman said the dead and injured were probably employed by the contractor that built the tank—the Pittsburgh Des Moines Steel Co. of Pittsburgh.

The dead man, Frank Mascara of Gloucester, foreman of the work crew, was pinned under the wreckage and pronounced dead at the scene.

Building Year Forecast For Waynesboro Squad; Call Up Trio Of Sophs

(Final in a series of articles on prospects of South Penn basketball teams.)

By JESS GARBER
Waynesboro Record Herald
WAYNESBORO — Pre-Christmas results of games played by the Waynesboro Area High School Indians point to a "building year" for the Tribe and Coach George H. Gottshall.

Winning only two of the seven games played before the holidays the Indians are hardly expected to hit consistent winning form until the latter half of the season. Gottshall-coached teams won 51 games and lost 33 over the past four years and he had only one losing season, that by a 10-11 margin.

In each of the four seasons Gottshall was able to count on the scoring ability of outstanding seniors, such as Russell Hopewell, Mike Crist, Tucker Shade and Bob Stoops. And he usually carried a balanced squad of six seniors and six juniors.

Presently he is working with three seniors, six juniors and three sophomores. He called up the sophomores after the first few games, convinced he had to bolster the squad.

JUNIORS SET PACE

To date two juniors have carried the scoring load. Jeff Hovis, 5-10, is averaging nearly 14 points per game, and Russell Zuck, a 6-5 skyscraper, is averaging 13 points and has proved a key rebounder.

Only one senior, 5-9 Don Eakle, is averaging in double figures at 10 per game. Other seniors include Orville Cronauer, 6 feet, and Keith Vinson, 6-2. Cronauer has relatively little experience but is a scrapper. Vinson, counted on as a key player this year, is still nursing a broken hand received in football.

Gottshall had counted on two other senior returnees but one declined to report and other dropped off the squad after the first week of play.

Other juniors who have been developing include 5-10 Dick Loy and 5-9 Mike Olier. Harold Myers and Kenneth Beam also moved up from last year's jayvees and could develop into starters.

Sophomores moved up include six-foot Doug Hoover, Gary Barton and Dave Price. Gottshall hopes to use them to spell the starters since the Indians ran out of gas in early games.

The Tribe lost 59-56 to open against a good South Hagerstown team, then bounced back to topple Scotland 69-47. Then came four losses in a row before the Indians gave Gottshall a 65-44 Christmas present win over North Hagerstown.

Indications are Gottshall should have a fine 1961-62 team. Waynesboro fans are hoping he can turn the hands on the clock of time ahead by about a year.

COACHES ARE AT ODDS OVER TEAM WEIGHTS

DALLAS (AP)—Coaches Frank Broyles of Arkansas and Bill Murray of Duke told each other how good the other's team was today while preparing to beat its ears off in the Cotton Bowl Monday. Murray said Arkansas was the quickest team he had seen this season and that it "comes nearer going at everything 100 per cent."

Broyles said Duke had a powerful running game and excellent passing and that he thought it gave 100 per cent even in its defeats.

ARGUE ABOUT WEIGHT

The argument the two coaches had—through the writers—about the Arkansas weights, with Murray claiming they were incorrect in the Cotton Bowl program and Broyles saying they were substantially correct, simmered down some when the two coaches took their first 22 players and arrived at an average. Arkansas, it appeared, averaged 192 to 195 pounds to the man and Duke 205.

Anyway, Broyles said he figured Duke would have an advantage if it's a muddy field because of the superior weight.

The Weather Bureau says prospects indicate there won't be any rain Monday but it can make no positive forecast. Rain set in early today.

BLUE AND GRAY BATTLE OPENS BOWL SERIES

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Good old-fashioned platoon football returns to the college scene today—perhaps for the last time. Coaches of the all-star Blue-Gray game, one of seven that make up today's opening course of the annual year-end football banquet, agreed to an unlimited substitution variation of the regular college rules.

It isn't likely that coaches Paul Dietzel of the South or Jack Mollenkopf of the North will substitute 11 men at a time, as was done generally before platoons were legislated out of existence in 1953. The idea is to give them the opportunity to make the best use of their talented but limited squads.

Still the 20,000 or so fans who are expected for the all-star tussle at Montgomery, Ala., and the TV viewers may have the last chance to pass judgment on the unlimited vs. limited substitution question. A proposal to be voted on at the National Collegiate Athletic Association convention early in January would require that all postseason games receiving NCAA approval be played under NCAA rules. That would eliminate such variations by agreement.

In addition to the Blue-Gray game, today's postseason program includes the Gator Bowl meeting at Jacksonville, Fla., between Baylor and Florida, the Shrine East-West game at San Francisco; the all-star Copper Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.; the Sun Bowl (New Mexico State vs. Utah State) at El Paso, Texas; the Great Southwest Bowl (Texas A&M vs. Arkansas Tech) at Grand Prairie, Texas; and the Prairie View Bowl (Arkansas A&M vs. Prairie View) at Houston.

ANTICIPATE CROWDS
About 187,000 spectators are expected to watch the seven games. Three will be televised nationally. The Blue-Gray and East-West games form a doubleheader on the air waves via NBC-TV. The Gator Bowl is on CBS-TV.

The main course of the banquet will be served Monday—national champion Minnesota vs. Washington in the Rose Bowl, Missouri vs. Navy in the Orange Bowl, Rice vs. Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl and Duke vs. Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

L-TOWN TAKES TOURNAMENT; HONOR BENNER

Littlestown High captured the first Susquehanna invitation basketball tournament by nipping Central of North York 57-56 in the championship game Friday evening.

The game was close all the way and in the final period seven of Littlestown 15 points came on foul conversions when the Panthers attempted to secure possession of the ball.

Jack Bream's Bolts, defending Adams County Division champs, played a deliberate style of ball to off-set the fast break and fine ball handling of Central and the ruse paid dividends.

MOST VALUABLE

Bob Benner, Littlestown 6-4 ace, was given the most valuable player award for the tournament.

It was a team effort all the way for Littlestown with Gene Apler being outstanding beneath the boards, Larry Snyder starring on his floor game and Benner, Larry Weikert, Bill Bowers and Bair turning in fine all-around games.

Central took a 19-13 lead in the first period but the Bolts edged ahead 28-26 at half time. Going into the final frame the teams were deadlocked at 42-42.

A goal by Central with 30 seconds remaining cut the Bolts' lead to one point but the Panthers were unable to get off another shot.

Littlestown held the edge on rebounding, 38-36. The Bolts netted 23 shots from the floor on 60 tries while Central made good on 22 of 57.

Bair, Benner and Weikert netted 17, 16 and 12 respectively for the winners. Biran Young topped the Panthers with 22.

Dallastown downed Susquehanna 55-53 in the consolation tilt. Littlestown has now won four straight to make its record 4-2. The Bolts play at Greencastle Tuesday in an Adams-Franklin League game.

KILMER SIGNS WITH 49'ERS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Re-arming their "shotgun" offense for 1961, the San Francisco 49ers signed UCLA star Bill Kilmer, grabbing him before the Los Angeles Chargers did.

Kilmer put his name to a contract Friday in the office of Coach Red Hickey who sized him up as a great potential gunner for the 49ers' new spread.

The UCLA tailback led the nation in total offense last fall with 1,889 yards. He was drafted by the 49ers as a first-round pick.

In the American Football League draft, he had been tapped by the Chargers.

Kilmer rushed for 803 yards and passed for 1,086 for the UCLA's. In the shotgun offense, the quarterback stands about 7 yards behind center and takes a direct snap. Then he can either pass, run or hand off to a fullback or halfback.

John Brodie, not noted as a runner, made the offense click as its quarterback in the final four 49er games as San Francisco won three of them.

Celtics Take Lead As Warriors Lose

UNDATED NBA ROUNDUP
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Celtics were back in sole possession of first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association today chiefly because of the fine shooting of Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson.

The Celtics downed the New York Knickerbockers 120-106 Friday night. Robertson got into the act by pacing the Cincinnati Royals to 136-130 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors. The two results gave the Celtics a game lead over the Warriors.

In other games, the St. Louis Hawks, Western Division pacesetters, beat the Los Angeles Lakers 107-99 in the second game of a doubleheader which saw Detroit turn back Syracuse 121-112 in the opener. The twin bill was played at St. Louis.

Robertson, held to nine points in the first half, broke loose for 29 in the final two quarters to help offset a 49-point performance by Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati was the one newcomer on the starting teams. He will play with the West along with Baylor, Bob Pettit and Clyde Lovellette of St.

Ohio State, St. Bonaventure, Undeclared, Meet Tonight

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The wild Christmas tournament week roars to a bone-rattling close tonight with two battles of the behemoths on tap—Ohio State against St. Bonaventure and Duke against North Carolina.

Ohio State and St. Bonaventure clash for the ECAC Holiday Festival title in New York's Madison Square Garden and when it's all over, one perfect record will be shattered. Both are undefeated.

The Buckeyes rank No. 1 in the country in the current Associated Press poll. The Bonnies are No. 3.

LUCAS MISSES PRACTICE

Ohio State is favorite, but ace Jerry Lucas has been battling the flu all through the tournament and missed practice Friday.

Duke, ranked No. 6 in the country—also undefeated—and North Carolina, which just missed the top 10 in this week's voting, gained their final spots in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C., Friday night.

OLE MISS, RICE MAY PLAY ON WET GROUNDS

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Sooner or later, the weatherman always slips into the bowl picture and for Monday's Sugar Bowl football game between Mississippi and Rice, he says it might be wet.

The weekend weather outlook for the New Orleans area calls for temperatures around 50 to 60 degrees with occasional rain Sunday and Monday.

But damp underfooting shouldn't bother either Mississippi, runnerup to Minnesota for the national title, or the Owls who tied for second place in the Southwestern Conference.

Mississippi rules a 10-point favorite, but support is growing for Rice. And with a wet field in prospect, the 80,000 fans in Tulane Stadium and millions more on national television (NBC) might see a pretty close game.

COULD HAMPER GIBBS

Wet conditions could hamper the passing of Rebel quarterback Jake Gibbs, an All-America. But Gibbs is backed up by some good running backs in halfbacks Bobby Crespin and George Blair and fullback Jim Anderson. And Gibbs is a pretty good runner himself if conditions dictate he should concentrate on a ground attack.

Rice will have the same burden since a wet ball probably would hamper Owl quarterback Billy Cox. But again, Rice has capable runners in halfbacks Bob Wyatt and Max Webb and fullback Roland Johnson.

Citadel Defeats Tennessee Tech

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—The Cadets of Citadel stormed Tennessee Tech's goal and stood fast against every assault for a 27-0 victory Friday night before 13,000 fans at the 15th annual Tangerine Bowl football game.

Citadel's charging line tore big holes for the Cadet ball carriers. It swamped many of the Eagles' offensive thrusts before they got into gear. The winners netted 241 yards rushing to 71 for Tennessee Tech.

Quarterback Jerry Nettles threw two touchdown passes among his eight completions of 14 attempts, gaining 137 yards.

Match H. Johnson With Jesse Bowdry

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The manager of Harold Johnson says he has tentatively matched the No. 1 ranked lightweight contender against Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis for a 15-round world championship bout at Miami Beach Feb. 7.

The announcement was made on Friday by Pat Oliveri who said that the match is subject to approval by the National Boxing Association's Championship Committee.

The match also apparently would hinge on whether Eric Schoepner of Germany decides to fight Johnson for the crown the NBA took from Archie Moore after claiming he failed to defend the title within required time limits. Schoepner has 10 days to decide.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans—West Virginia snapped Memphis State's unbeaten record at eight games with an 86-82 overtime victory.

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.—Navy outlasted favored Georgia Tech in a rousing finish, 63-60. Los Angeles Classic—Iowa upset UCLA, 71-65.

All College Tournament at Oklahoma City—Wichita fought off Baylor at the finish and eked out a 76-74 decision.

OLD MISS LOSES

Barons Strengthen Hold On 2nd Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cleveland's hold on second place in the American Hockey League was a little more secure today thanks to Greig Hicks.

The center came through with a goal at 2:19 of a sudden overtime period Friday night and gave the Barons a 4-3 triumph over the Providence Reds. The triumph increased Cleveland's margin over third place Quebec to three points.

The Rochester Americans moved into a tie with Hershey for fifth place by downing the Buffalo Bisons 4-2 on two rapid scoring sprees which netted two goals each time. The result left the Bisons only two points in front of Hershey and Rochester.

Chargers Look For Upset Over Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Los Angeles Chargers, losers in Houston's first American Football League game, worked out today with hopes of closing the season with an upset victory.

The Chargers and the Houston Oilers meet in the AFL's first championship game Sunday before an expected 25,000 persons and a national television audience—ABC, 2:30 p. m., CST. Houston is a 6½ point favorite.

The Chargers lost to Houston, 38-28, in the Oilers' first league home game in September, and won, 24-21, on a muddy field in Los Angeles later.

The Chargers, with 10-4 record, won the league's Western Division. Houston, also 10-4, won the Eastern Division.

Louis and Gene Shue of Detroit.

Farm Agent Does Not See Expanded Economic Activity

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

A year ago, business optimism was high and rising with a lot of emphasis on the soaring '60s. Obviously, these expectations have not been realized the first year of the decade. And the new year will not be one of greatly expanded economic activity.

Value of all goods and services produced in the United States for 1960 will be close to 504 billion dollars. This represents roughly a 5 per cent gain over 1959.

FRANK S. ZETTLE with the last part of the year showing better performance.

BETTER SPENDING
Consumer spending, the most important single business factor, likely will be the same or a little better than in the passing year. It is easier to estimate total consumer spending than to predict expenditures for various classes of consumer goods. Most families today have more "discretionary" income than ever before. This is the amount of money left over after basic food, clothing and shelter needs are met. In the 1950's this money went in considerable measure for cars, appliances and "extras" in housing—the durable goods field. For the first half of the '60's a larger share of this durable goods buying will be replacement purchases. A lesser share of discretionary income is likely to go for these items.

Consumer spending for education and recreation will be increasing in the next few years. Some families with teen-age children may find themselves with less discretionary income in the next three or four years, because it costs approximately twice as much money to support a 15-year-old as it does to support a one-year-old child.

STEADY FOOD SALES
Retail food sales should continue to hold their steady upward trend as population continues to grow at a rate of almost 3 million people each year. A larger percentage of "teen and pre-teen age" children is also expected to have a favorable effect on the total volume of retail food sales in the early '60's.

Consumer spending in the early '60's will be distributed over a wider range of goods and services than ever before. Incomes in 1961 will total very slightly above 1960, and the prices probably will not change significantly, so purchasing power of the dollar will be about the same.

Changes in major farm laws in 1961 seem unlikely to agricultural economist at the Pennsylvania State University.

SEE PROGRAM CHANGES
However, they say it is obvious that the new secretary of agriculture will have enough authority under present laws to make substantial farm program changes.

These changes will likely be mainly in the area of increasing price supports. The secretary could also require acreage retirement as a condition for getting supports. Cross compliance and allotments also could be made applicable.

There seems to be little support in most farm states, the economists say, for the proposal by President-elect Kennedy which would guarantee a farm income based on holding sales of farm products to federally-determined quotas.

There may be increased emphasis and interest in the two-price plan, especially as it applies to wheat. Under this system domestic prices would be maintained at a high level with the excess being exported at substantially lower prices.

Estimates put the total output of agricultural commodities on a continuing upward trend, barring serious drought or an effective control program. Farmers will continue to adapt new technology—which is generally output-increasing and per-unit cost-reducing—in the intensified cost-price squeeze, so long as it pays.

It is fairly obvious that agricultural production potential will continue to outrun the population growth in the 1960's. People can eat only so much food. Unless large amounts of food can be exported, the demand for food can grow only about as fast as the population. Thus, farm income will grow more slowly than nonfarm income, because demand for non-farm products and services is not limited by appetite or capacity for food.

TANK SPLITS; MAN IS KILLED

PORT READING, N. J. (AP)—A newly constructed 5,000-gallon oil storage tank split open and collapsed Friday after it was filled with water for a test under pressure.

An avalanche of water, steel and scaffolding killed one workman and injured seven others, one seriously.

The accident occurred in the yard of Hess, Inc., a fuel oil company.

A company spokesman said the dead and injured were probably employed by the contractor that built the tank—the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. of Pittsburgh.

The dead man, Frank Mascara of Gloucester, foreman of the work crew, was pinned under the wreckage and pronounced dead at the scene.

STATEWIDE TV PLANS STUDIED

HARRISBURG (AP)—Plans for a statewide educational television network for the public schools are under study, reports Superintendent Charles H. Boehm of the Public Instruction Department.

Boehm told the Pennsylvania State Education Association Thursday that the plans would call for use of existing educational TV stations, the 14 state colleges, major universities and colleges, and his department.

Boehm said present plans call for four major educational television production centers, tentatively set for Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Philadelphia and University Park.

SERVE DUAL PURPOSE
The teacher colleges would serve a dual purpose, said Boehm, adding:

"They may be used for instruction within the college and may serve as relay posts for programs scheduled for viewing across the state. The geographical location of each college lends itself admirably to widespread dissemination of programs."

By way of illustration, Boehm said the TV facilities would provide all citizens an opportunity to witness state government in action. He said students could view the legislature, inaugurations and other government activity.

Prevents Wreck By Flagging Train

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—A 62-year-old railroad brakeman Thursday made a 200-yard sprint and managed to halt a passenger train a foot short of a rock slide blocking the tracks.

The brakeman, Ralph Curio, was waiting for a passenger train to pull into the station when a 50-foot-high retaining wall collapsed. Mud and boulders spilled across three of the four main line tracks of the Jersey Central railroad.

The wall, constructed of old railroad ties, was apparently weakened by rain.

Curio grabbed several flares and started running. He hopped past the blocked track, just north of the Nostrand Avenue station, and flagged down the commuter-laden train.

Curio was sent, Mr. Burroughs opened one. It was signed "Browning Repair and Welding, Wheatland, Wyoming."

Tackle Bob Lilly, 6-foot-5 Texas Christian football star, is rated by Coach Abe Martin as the best lineman he ever coached.

Youth Movement Seen In Penna. Politics As Well As On National Scene

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Are younger people taking command in politics after generations of playing lesser roles and often being told patronizingly they could not play an old pros' game?

The question has been boldly underscored by events and personalities of this unusual election year.

A young man from Massachusetts, John F. Kennedy, defeated a young man from California, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, for the presidency. At 43 Kennedy is the second youngest man ever to take over in the White House. Theodore Roosevelt was a year younger when he ascended to the presidency after the assassination of William McKinley. Kennedy has chosen a cabinet whose average age is among the lowest in the nation's history.

APPEALED TO YOUTH

Younger men, some of them governors and congressmen, were thrust to the front at both nominating conventions. Democrats and Republicans alike appealed to youth, advancing their respective claims to speak for youth and to lead it.

How far younger men—and women, too, for that matter—in the government of Pennsylvania and its subdivisions?

At first sight it would seem they are still playing supporting parts; that they go on being the lieutenants and captains and colonels, but rarely generals; that the old hands still call the shots.

AGE AT HARRISBURG

But a closer look reveals the juniors are moving up, if not in the strictly political echelons, certainly in the more specialized fields of government.

Viewing Harrisburg, you'd say that age decidedly was at the controls. Gov. Lawrence is in his 70s. Harvey Taylor, Republican stalwart from way back, is 84. Many others in key positions are of older generations. This would seem to be a reversal of a trend under former Gov. George Leader, who was under 40 when he was elected.

Actually it is not a reversal, many of the state's leading politicians say. Although most of those holding elective office are older people no special significance is read into this circumstance. Where the younger ones are making most headway is in the appointive jobs, which for some will lead in time to greater political responsibilities.

YOUTH ON LADDER

Roy Schafer, 34-year-old national president of the Young Democrats of America, is Lawrence's legislative secretary. Although not a member of the governor's cabinet, Schafer is in a strategic spot for advancement.

As Schafer sees it, government needs younger people "if only to get new ideas into the mill." The trend, he adds, "is not to neglect them. In many, many cases younger people can handle certain jobs better than the oldsters."

Also close to Lawrence is another young man, Walter W. Giesey, who is in his late 30s. Giesey is the governor's executive secretary, his chief of staff. Giesey's service to Lawrence dates back to the days when the veteran Democratic leader was mayor of Pittsburgh.

CONSPICUOUS JUNIOR

Another conspicuous junior in the capital is David R. Baldwin, 37-year-old state budget secretary. A professional economist holding several degrees in public administration, Baldwin typifies the fresh kind of know-how that is being introduced into government at the more important levels.

Philadelphia's prime example of younger men in high place is William L. Rafsky, 41.

In 1956, Rafsky, then 37, was named coordinator and redevelopment director, a job of the utmost importance since the city was in the midst of a rebuilding and expansion program costing billions.

NOT A POLITICIAN

His appointment by a Democratic administration was quasi-political. But Rafsky feels he is in no sense a politician. He used to be secretary to Joseph S. Clark, then mayor, now senator. From the outset he has been looked upon as an exceptionally able man. He is often spoken of now as one of the best brains of the city's complex government.

Another who handles big money in a highly exacting job is 44-year-old Richard J. McConnell, the city's director of finance since 1955. He was deputy director for several years before that. A certified public accountant by early training, McConnell is a member of Mayor Richardson Dilworth's cabinet and rated a foremost exemplar of the purely professional man in government.

Philadelphia Councilman Alfred Luongo is considered to have the professional touch, too. Now 40, he was elected last year to his first office of this kind. He is a former assistant United States attorney. He is a member of the council committee on public property and public work.

HAVE THEIR PLACE

Fourth man in Philadelphia's gallery of younger men in government is Randolph Wise, welfare commissioner. Appointed in 1952, at the age of 39, Wise brought to the task broad experience in social science. His responsibility extends far—to the alleviation of poverty, the over-seeing of the prison system, the handling of juvenile delinquency and racial problems, which have increased here in the last few years.

The consensus among these and other Philadelphia officials is that younger people aren't exactly taking over in government, but that if they are skilled professionals the government wants them, particularly to run operating departments such as finance, streets and highways, recreation and welfare.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

BLACKLISTING IN HOLLYWOOD BRINGS SUIT

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A dozen movie writers and actors, three of them Academy Award winners, are suing major studios for $7.5 million in damages and demanding abolition of an alleged political blacklist in Hollywood.

Four of the plaintiffs were members of the famed "unfriendly 10," who were convicted of contempt of Congress and sent to jail in 1947 after refusing to say whether they had ever been Communists.

The suit, directed against eight studios, was filed on Friday in U.S. District Court at Washington, D.C.

DEPRIVED OF WORK

The plaintiffs, who contend they were deprived of work in Hollywood because they were on the alleged blacklist, are writers Nedrick Young, Albert Maltz, John Howard Lawson, Herbert Biberman, Lester Cole, Robert L. Richards, Frederick I. Rinaldo and Philip Stevenson, and performers Gale Sondergaard, Alvin Hammer, Mary Virginia Farmer and Shimen Ruskin.

Maltz, Young and Miss Sondergaard are Oscar winners. Maltz, Lawson, Biberman and Cole were members of the "unfriendly 10."

A. L. Wirin, one of the plaintiffs' attorneys, said the suit charges conspiracy and is being filed under antitrust laws.

SET PRECEDENT

Wirin, associated with the American Civil Liberties Union, said this is the first time antitrust laws have been used "to secure enforcement of civil rights. 'The Sherman Anti-Trust Act makes it unlawful for persons to agree not to employ any person or group of persons,' he added. 'In this case, the complaint alleges there was an agreement by all those named as defendants not to employ persons who invoked the Fifth Amendment before a congressional committee or who refused to furnish information to a congressional committee.' All the plaintiffs fall into one or the other of these categories, Wirin said.

Hollywood studios have denied the existence of a blacklist, but Wirin said such a list has been used since 1947 and now contains more than 200 names. He said the suit would detail how the alleged blacklist has been employed.

Defendant studios are Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Columbia, Paramount, 20th Century-Fox, Warner Brothers, Universal-International, Walt Disney Productions and Allied Artists. Also named are the Motion Picture Association of America and the Association of Motion Picture Producers.

HOLIDAY CHEER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A tank car parked in the Florida East Coast Railroad yards had a certain air of holiday cheer about it which prevailed through the week.

A constant stream of visitors to the car finally brought railroad detectives to the scene. They found a leak had drained off a considerable quantity of 2,579 gallons of wine in a compartment of the tank car.

If you serve only part of a container of ice cream, stuff waxed paper into empty top of the carton before replacing the cover and storing in the freezer. You'll notice the quality of the ice cream holds up well this way.

Pa. Legislature Spent More Time Doing Less In '60 Than Ever Before

HARRISBURG (AP)—Measure it by the mile, by the dollar, or any other way and the answer undoubtedly is: The 1960 legislature spent more time doing less work than any other session in Pennsylvania history.

This legislature, first under the constitutional amendment authorizing annual sessions, had little to do when it convened Jan. 5.

The amendment limited the session to consideration of laws regarding appropriations and revenue and a two-year budget already had been approved by the 1959 session.

ADJOURNMENT DISPUTE
The 260 members managed to pass three bills, making changes in appropriations passed by the previous legislature.

Less than a month after the session opened, Gov. Lawrence had received the measures and signed them. But, the legislators delayed the end of the session until Nov. 4—a little more than two weeks before their terms expired Nov. 30.

Republicans were reluctant to agree to final adjournment and the GOP had a majority in the Senate. "From February on, it was a waste of the taxpayers' money," said Stephen McCann, leader of the House Democratic majority. "There was no legislation passed."

Final adjournment requires the consent of both houses, and the Republican control of the Senate gave the party a veto power over Democrats plans to quit. The GOP forced the session into numerous recesses.

So the representatives and the senators kept going back and forth between their homes and Harrisburg, collecting mileage for every trip.

Even though the members were only going through the motions in what appeared to be a gigantic dress rehearsal, they made 10 round trips and each trip cost the commonwealth some $8,700.

SOME COSTS UNCOUNTED

Many of the legislative employees and the legislators themselves are paid a regular salary, and there is no estimate of how much it cost the state to rehire the temporary legislative employees each time the members came back to town.

What was the reason for the Republican reluctance? At first, the GOP leaders said they ought to stay around "to keep an eye on the governor."

They apparently had little faith in the legislative budget and finance committee, the so-called watchdog committee, which was created by the 1959 session to watch state government spending.

Later, the Republican leaders said they wanted to stay around

SINATRA TO BE MOST ELEGANT AT INAUGURAL

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Don Loper, noted designer of women's fashions, will have a unique entry at the inauguration of President-elect John F. Kennedy — Frank Sinatra.

The thin singer, one of Kennedy's strongest movieland boosters, will produce the inauguration eve gala show that the Democratic National Committee hopes will erase much of a $2-million campaign deficit. As an old friend of the Kennedy family, Sinatra will be a guest at the inauguration and all other festivities.

TO BE MOST ELEGANT

For that reason, he gave Loper "a small fortune" to design an inauguration wardrobe.

"I'm staking my reputation that Frank will be the most elegantly dressed guest at the inauguration," says Loper. "Furthermore, I believe he will revive a correctness in male dress that has been deplorably lacking since the thirties," he added.

Inauguration visitors will see Sinatra sporting such touches as a bowler and chesterfield top coat worn with his formal morning and afternoon wear.

A chesterfield might be called startling even for evening wear now, but Loper has designed something more elegant for Sinatra to wear over his white tie and tails.

"Frank will wear the new, lower British-made silk top hat with Inverness cape, lined with rich, black satin. It's the most elegant cape I have ever seen," says Loper.

2 SETS OF EVERYTHING

Frank's afternoon and morning derby also will be the lower Bond Street model. Loper ordered them from England.

Loper has made Frank two sets of everything, including all linen wear—in case he spills anything.

Loper and Sinatra are old friends. Loper recently designed the tulle dress for young Nancy Sinatra when she married singer Tommy Sands.

HOOVER SAYS YOUTH SESSION IS COMMUNIST

CHICAGO (AP)—A youth conference in Chicago this weekend, labeled Communist by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, is not Communist-led or inspired, say spokesmen for the meeting.

Three of the young persons who are organizing the meeting said Thursday it will establish a "left-progressive and socialist" youth organization.

Hoover, in Washington earlier this month said "the Communists are completing final arrangements for a conference to be held in Chicago," to formulate plans for a new national youth organization.

Miss Alva Buxenbaum, 23, of Philadelphia, a member of the conference initiating committee, said: "J. Edgar Hoover is a paranoid. He sees enemies where there are no enemies."

A statement by Miss Buxenbaum and two members of her committee, Daniel Rubin, 29, and Milton Anthopoulos, 23, both of New York, said: "We refuse to allow Mr. Hoover and people with such paranoia to inject communism as an issue into our conference."

Miss Buxenbaum, who described herself as non-Communist, said she expected about 100 persons at the convention, which will be closed to the press. Rubin and Anthopoulos declined to say they are Communists.

OLNEY, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor G. Evans, Pennsylvania's first woman secretary of public assistance, is retiring from her present job Jan. 1.

Mrs. Evans, who served in the cabinet of former Gov. John S. Fine, now is head of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Region 2 branch office in Philadelphia. The region's headquarters is here.

Train Of Football Fans Is Derailed

PUYALLUP, Wash. (AP) — Railroad officials poked through wreckage along 400 feet of torn track Friday probing an unexplained derailment that spilled the engine and nine cars of a passenger train carrying 500 holiday travelers.

The Northern Pacific train, loaded with football fans bound for the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif., jumped the track in this western Washington town Thursday afternoon.

Two passengers and three trainmen were hospitalized. Thirteen other persons were treated and released.

The others went on south in a special train sent from Seattle.

DEATH SENTENCE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Frank McCoy, 35, has been sentenced to death for the murder of Gaetano Sabelli, a Philadelphia food importer, during a $680 holdup in 1957.

Judge Bernard J. Kelly imposed the sentence Thursday after denying McCoy's motion for a third trial. McCoy was granted a second trial when the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled the judge at his first trial made prejudicial remarks.

COMMY ASKS SUMMIT MEET

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in his first talk with the British ambassador to Moscow, stressed his desire for a summit-level U. N. session on disarmament and a Berlin settlement in 1961 but gave no hint of readiness to make any concessions to the West.

Diplomatic authorities said this was the position the Soviet premier took in a 90-minute talk last Monday with Sir Frank Roberts, the new British envoy in Moscow.

British officials concede that the major Western allies will have to take a second look at the question of a U. N. summit session in the spring if Khrushchev announces he is going to lead the Soviet delegation in person again and a flock of government heads come trooping along, as they did in the fall.

But at present the Western powers see no point in trying to negotiate intricate disarmament questions amid a series of circus performances such as Khrushchev pulled off at the U. N. forum last September.

'60 Was Vintage Year In Penna. For Offbeat Doings

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The human spirit twisted and turned along many curious paths in Pennsylvania this year. So much so that 1960 qualifies as a vintage year for off-beat doings in the state.

And where better to start than with some pretty odd Christmas themes?

Back in March a Pittsburgh man was sentenced to serve one to three years in prison for shoplifting two suits from a department store. He told the judge, "I just wanted to dress up for Christmas and I was out of a job."

POSTMAN FED UP

In April a man in Franklin was sentenced to 10 days in jail because he couldn't pay a fine for disorderly conduct. When asked his name, the short, stout fellow with red nose and snowy beard replied, "Santa Clause." No kidding, he said.

A temporary postman in Philadelphia this month was fed up to the teeth with the volume of holiday mail. People jumped him for wrong deliveries. All this confused and upset him. In the end he dumped a batch of mail down a sewer.

Youngsters got a good play in headlined wackiness. Take that two-year-old boy in Glen Rock. When he bumped his baby-sitter smelled something funny on his breath. She asked him to show her what he had been drinking. Blithely, he led her to the front lawn and pointed to a power mower. The child had been sucking gasoline out of the tank through two straws. He suffered no ill effects.

STABBED BY CHAIR

A 14-year-old Philadelphia boy

was sitting in a chair watching television when a steel spring in the cushion snapped and stabbed him in the leg.

Mrs. Bertha Nixon of Altoona just couldn't make up her mind which way to go in the November election. She has one grandson named Richard Nixon, another Jack Kennedy.

The Chamber of Commerce in Mechanicsburg, central Pennsylvania village, asked the council to pass a law forbidding anyone to squirt ketchup out of a water pistol. The chamber said a lot of fine people had been doused with the stuff at a mid-year community shindig. The council said sorry, no can do.

OTHER ODDITIES

The year's calendar of the singular included these, too:

The Fayette County commissions asked a chorewoman to quit because she was running a hair-dressing business in the courtroom.

The Allegheny County Park Commission hired a lifeguard named Ronald Brown.

A driver for a Pittsburgh dairy, plugging a low-calorie frozen dessert, picked up this note on his route: "Milkman—please leave that half gallon of skinny ice cream today instead of Friday. I have to get into a tight dress until then."

MUSICAL DISCORD

In Philadelphia's Academy of Music a little, white-haired man in the balcony was so carried away by the orchestra's playing of Weber's "Oberon" overture that he cried "bravo" at the wrong time. In the midst of the next number he did the same thing, but used a different word, and this time from a box into which he had managed to slip

PRIEST REPAYS ADOPTED U. S.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United States Treasury is $73,000 richer because of an immigrant priest's gratitude for his opportunities in this country.

The sum was willed to the United States by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael J. Macken, who died in 1958 at the age of 82 after having served as pastor of St. Clara's Roman Catholic Church in Clarendon, Pa.

Msgr. Macken's attorney, Daniel T. Brahaney of Johnstown, turned over $68,000 of the bequest Thursday to the U. S. attorney's office here.

Msgr. Macken, who came to the United States from Ireland while still in his 20s, left an estate of $151,769.

After leaving several bequests to relatives, Msgr. Macken set aside $73,000 in his will for the government, explaining that it was "in grateful acknowledgment of the opportunity to prosper both spiritually and materially which this great country has afforded me and the members of my religion and nationality."

To Drill Hole Deep Into Earth's Core From Ship

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Tests will begin in March of the audacious plan to drill a hole deep into the earth from a ship at sea.

This plan is the Mohole—the first hole ever to penetrate all through the earth's crust to learn what mysteries lie in and below it. It is "one of the most important scientific undertakings of modern times," Dr. Detlev Broni, president of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, declared today.

START TESTS IN MARCH

The actual Mohole would be drilled from atop water perhaps 3½ miles deep, with special drills then biting 3 miles through the ocean floor to go below the earth's crust or outer skin for the first time.

Experimental drilling to test all the difficult techniques will start in March near Guadalupe Island off the western coast of Mexico. The National Science Foundation and Academy-Research Council announced today.

There the sea is 12,000 feet deep—2½ miles. Holes looking for offshore oil have never been drilled before in water deeper than a few hundred feet.

CORE OF NICKEL, IRON

Several test holes to various depths are planned. A rotary drill working from a specially fitted ship will be used.

Digging the Mohole itself may come in a few years.

Mohole gets its name from the Mohorovicic discontinuity—Moho for short. The Moho is a boundary between the earth's thin crust and the underlying rock, the mantle, of unknown composition which extends 3,000 miles deep to the earth's core. The core is presumably composed of nickel and iron.

The Mohole—Moho hole—can be feasibly drilled only at sea, for the earth's crust under the oceans is as little as 2½ to 3 miles thick, as against 15 to 20 miles on land masses. And the deepest oil well ever dug on land is only 47 miles.

The Mohole will try to bring up samples of the mantle, and to study the curious Moho boundary layer.

The drilling also could produce a rich history of life, evolution and climate changes on earth.

This can be done by bringing up and analyzing the sediments building up to 500 to 1,000 feet thickness over millions of years.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Judge Gerald F. Flood, 62, was sworn in Thursday for a 10-year term as a member of the State Superior Court.

Flood, a Democrat, was elected last Nov. 8. He served in the Philadelphia Common Pleas Court. He defeated incumbent Judge Blair F. Gunther of Pittsburgh.

Shoplifter Carries $17,000 In Wallet

BALTIMORE (AP)—A woman accused Friday of shoplifting a 22-carat diamond ring and a 79-cent pair of gloves could have bought about 25,000 pairs.

Police said a store detective saw the 42-year-old woman steal the gloves and arrested her. While questioning the woman, police inspected her pocketbook and found little plastic bags of money inside the lining.

After an hour and 15 minutes of counting, they came up with $17,583 in cash and $2,000 in $100 bonds.

The woman said the money was life savings which her husband told her never to let out of sight. The store dropped charges.

Pa. Legislature Spent More Time Doing Less In '60 Than Ever Before

HARRISBURG (AP)—Measure it by the mile, by the dollar, or any other way and the answer undoubtedly is: The 1960 legislature spent more time doing less work than any other session in Pennsylvania history.

This legislature, first under the constitutional amendment authorizing annual sessions, had little to do when it convened Jan. 5.

The amendment limited the session to consideration of laws regarding appropriations and revenue and a two-year budget already had been approved by the 1959 session.

ADJOURNMENT DISPUTE

The 260 members managed to pass three bills, making changes in appropriations passed by the previous legislature.

Less than a month after the session opened, Gov. Lawrence had received the measures and signed them. But, the legislators delayed the end of the session until Nov. 14—a little more than two weeks before their terms expired Nov. 30.

Republicans were reluctant to agree to final adjournment and the GOP had a majority in the Senate.

"From February on, it was a waste of the taxpayers' money," said Stephen McCann, leader of the House Democratic majority. "There was no legislation passed or intended to be passed."

Final adjournment requires the consent of both houses, and the Republican control of the Senate gave the party a veto power over Democrats plans to quit. The GOP forced the session into numerous recesses.

So the representatives and the senators kept going back and forth between their homes and Harrisburg, collecting mileage for every trip.

Even though the members were only going through the motions in what appeared to be a gigantic dress rehearsal, they made 10 round trips and each trip cost the commonwealth some $8,700.

SOME COSTS UNCOUNTED

Many of the legislative employees and the legislators themselves are paid a regular salary, and there is no estimate of how much it cost the state to rehire the temporary legislative employees each time the members came back to town.

What was the reason for the Republican reluctance? At first, the GOP leaders said they ought to stay around "to keep an eye on the governor."

They apparently had little faith in the legislative budget and finance committee, the so-called watchdog committee, which was created by the 1959 session to watch state government spending.

Later, the Republican leaders said they wanted to stay around

SINATRA TO BE MOST ELEGANT AT INAUGURAL

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Don Loper, noted designer of women's fashions, will have a unique entry at the inauguration of President-elect John F. Kennedy — Frank Sinatra.

The thin singer, one of Kennedy's strongest movieland boosters, will produce the inauguration eve gala show that the Democratic National Committee hopes will erase much of a $2-million campaign deficit. As an old friend of the Kennedy family, Sinatra will be a guest at the inauguration and all other festivities.

TO BE MOST ELEGANT

For that reason, he gave Loper "a small fortune" to design an inauguration wardrobe.

"I'm staking my reputation that Frank will be the most elegantly dressed guest at the inauguration," says Loper. "Furthermore, I believe he will revive a correctness in male dress that has been deplorably lacking since the thirties," he added.

Inauguration visitors will see Sinatra sporting such touches as a bowler and chestfield top coat worn with his formal morning and afternoon wear.

A chestfield might be called startling even for evening wear now but Loper has designed something more elegant for Sinatra to wear over his white tie and tails.

"Frank will wear the new, lower British-made silk top hat with Inverness cape, lined with rich, black satin. It's the most elegant cape I have ever seen," says Loper.

2 SETS OF EVERYTHING

Frank's afternoon and morning derby also will be the lower Bond Street model. Loper ordered them from England.

Loper has made Frank two sets of everything, including all linen wear—"in case he spills anything."

Loper and Sinatra are old friends. Loper recently designed the tuxedo for young Nancy Sinatra when she married singer Tommy Sands.

Train Of Football Fans Is Derailed

PUYALLUP, Wash. (AP) — Railroad officials poked through wreckage along 400 feet of torn track Friday probing an unexplained derailment that spilled the engine and nine cars of a passenger train carrying 500 holiday travelers.

The Northern Pacific train, loaded with football fans bound for the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif., jumped the track in this western Washington town Thursday afternoon.

Two passengers and three trainmen were hospitalized. Thirteen other persons were treated and released.

The others went on south in a special train sent from Seattle.

DEATH SENTENCE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Frank McCoy, 35, has been sentenced to death for the murder of Gaetano Sabelli, a Philadelphia food importer, during a $680 holdup in 1957.

Judge Bernard J. Kelly imposed the sentence Thursday after denying McCoy's motion for a third trial. McCoy was granted a second trial when the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled the judge at his first trial made prejudicial remarks.

Miss Buxenbaum, who described herself as non-Communist, said she expected about 100 persons at the convention, which will be closed to the press. Rubin and Anthopoulos declined to say they are Communists.

OLNEY, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor G. Evans, Pennsylvania's first woman secretary of public assistance, is retiring from her present job Jan. 1.

Mrs. Evans, who served in the cabinet of former Gov. John S. Fine, now is head of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Region 2 branch office in Philadelphia. The region's headquarters is here.

COMMY ASKS SUMMIT MEET

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in his first talk with the British ambassador to Moscow, stressed his desire for a summit-level U. N. session on disarmament and a Berlin settlement in 1961 but gave no hint of readiness to make any concessions to the West.

Diplomatic authorities said this was the position the Soviet premier took in a 90-minute talk last Monday with Sir Frank Roberts, the new British envoy in Moscow.

British officials conceded that the major Western allies will have to take a second look at the question of a U. N. summit session in the spring if Khrushchev announces he is going to lead the Soviet delegation in person again and a flock of government heads come trooping along, as they did in the fall.

But at present the Western powers see no point in trying to negotiate intricate disarmament questions amid a series of circus performances such as Khrushchev pulled off at the U. N. forum last September.

Home Economist Writes Of Furniture, Medical Costs

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Home Economist

Who is an "average" furniture buyer? Some facts on spending and costs can help families understand the furniture dollar and what it buys.

Kitchen appliances are not considered furniture, neither are pictures, sofa pillows, curtains, draperies, or fabric by the yard. Not even rugs may be counted. The average furniture buyer spends $15 out of every $1,000 he earns on wood, metal, or upholstered furniture.

Most families buy some furniture more or less continuously—a lamp now, a chair in the spring, a table for another time. They also buy new furniture in spurts. Newly married couples buy some basic pieces: after a recent move by the family they add more pieces. Children at the growing-up stage and children leaving home are common causes for furniture changes and additions. Between these buying spurts, families may occasionally add or change pieces.

CREDIT BUYING

The furniture dollar buys as much today as it did 10 years ago. Eighty-five per cent of the sales are made on time, and seasonal sales help to make furniture buys attractive.

What do these facts add up to? Furniture is durable and stays with a family a long time so each item needs careful thought and selection.

Medical costs per person are over 1.5 times more for older than for younger farm families, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

A nationwide survey conducted by USDA and the Bureau of the Census indicated medical costs for farm families in which the farm operators were 65 years of age or older averaged $92 a year per person, those of all others $59.

MEDICAL INSURANCE

Among farm families in which the farm operator was 65 or older, 12.5 per cent of the family net income was spent for medical items. The proportion for all other younger families was about 9 per cent. Only 37 per cent of the older families, compared with 53 per cent of younger families, had any kind of medical insurance.

Increases in the cost of medical expenditures for farm families between 1935 and 1955 were more than four times as great as increases in all farm-family consumption expenses. Medical costs rose 178 per cent, all consumption costs 41 per cent.

These are among findings in the nationwide survey, reported and analyzed in "The Older Farm Family and Medical Costs," Agriculture Information Bulletin No. 235, issued by USDA. The report was prepared for use in conjunction with the White House Conference on Aging to be held in January, and is based on recent nationwide information available on the medical expenditures of farm families.

Patrick Henry To Sail With H-Bombs

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—The nuclear-powered and nuclear-armed submarine Patrick Henry is sliding silently beneath the surface of the Atlantic Ocean today, ready to launch her powerful Polaris missiles at any aggressor.

The big sub was sent to sea on a war-ready basis Friday, joining her sister sub, the George Washington, and doubling this nation's striking power from under-sea launching sites.

Both the Patrick Henry and the George Washington carry 16 Polaris missiles with hydrogen bomb

Proposes New Plan For Depressed Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. James E. Van Zandt, R-Pa., has proposed a new plan for aid to distressed areas, with states matching federal funds.

Administration of the program, estimated to cost $150 in federal funds the first five years, would rest with the states rather than a federal agency, Van Zandt said Thursday.

The plan calls for state and federal governments to provide up to 90 per cent of the cost of establishing new industry in distressed areas.

Of this, the federal government would provide half and the state government half. The remaining 10 per cent would be provided by local sources.

Van Zandt said he will introduce the plan in the new Congress.

Stokowski's recovery is expected to be complete in about six weeks.

3 CHILDREN DIE IN FLAMES

NEW YORK (AP)—Emma Hardison, 31, wanted to slip out to the nearby grocery store. Separated from her husband, she had no one to look after her three children, but they seemed safely absorbed in watching television.

When she got back to her Bronx apartment less than 10 minutes later, it was in flames.

She opened the door and heard her son Jerome, 5, scream "Mommie, mommie!" but the flames forced her from the door.

No ORIGIN OF PLAZE

She and a neighbor tried to enter via the fire escape, but again were turned back by flames and heat.

Firemen who put out the blaze shortly afterward found the body of Jerome and his sisters, Karen, 4, and Sylvia, 3.

No one knew, as the last day of 1960 dawned, just what had caused the fire.

Finds Dog After 400 Mile Trip And Hunt

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A boy travelled homeward today with his dog after traveling 400 miles to find the pet.

Alex Borsi, 13, of Jersey City, N. J., was given bus fare by his father, Jen, as a Christmas present so he could search for Wanderer, a pet which had been left with friends when the Borsi family moved from Buffalo.

After talking with police in suburban Tonawanda, Alex spent Thursday night on a table at police headquarters, with a patrolman's coat as a blanket.

Newspapers and radio stations told of the search, and Wanderer was located Friday morning.

Alex, a seventh-grader, said he was "very happy" about finding his pet. He said the dog would have a large back yard in which to run and "will make an excellent watch dog."

The Borsis are Hungarians who fled their country during the 1956 uprising.

BELGIANS FEAR NEW VIOLENCE

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Belgians today uneasily awaited the new year, feeling it would bring new violence to the nation torn by strikes and political squabbling.

The strikes and violence which have raged for 12 days throughout Belgium showed signs of easing during the holiday, but the grave political differences remain as large as ever.

The first week of the new year brings several events officials fear could spark new violence.

GOES BEFORE PARLIAMENT

Premier Gaston Eyskens goes before Parliament Tuesday in an effort to ram through the government's controversial economic reform program of his Catholic-Liberal government over bitter Socialist opposition.

Socialist leaders have scheduled huge demonstrations and walkouts for Wednesday in Brussels and Antwerp.

The bloodiest fighting yet broke out in Brussels Friday. An orderly demonstration turned into a sprawling brawl with 3,000 rioters armed with stones and clubs pitted against mounted police wielding sabers. One man was killed and 12 persons were injured.

Then Montedoro discovered whom he had rescued—the son of Patrolman Gerald Landrigan, who was walking his beat a few blocks away.

Goes From Credit Job To Astronomy

MILLBURN, N. J. (AP)—Professional astronomy has been the fulltime job of James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer at the Hayden Planetarium in New York, for only eight years.

Pickering worked 24 years for a big department store, rising to credit manager. But astronomy was something he steeped himself in since boyhood. He quit his store job eight years ago to make the stars his career.

He won a national award for his television series, "Astronomy and You," and has written two books about the heavens.

KISSING'S JUST A GAME

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Kissing is an increasingly important factor in many games, says an assistant professor of psychology at Bowling Green State University, but a strong element of chance also is present.

Thus, concludes Dr. Brian Sutton-Smith, no one is inclined to take the kissing too seriously. "We need to remember," says the professor, who is studying personality development, that this is the age of tongue-tied early dating. Kissing games provide a means for a socially acceptable relationship with the opposite sex."

'60 Was Vintage Year In Penna. For Offbeat Doings

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The human spirit twisted and turned along many curious paths in Pennsylvania this year. So much so that 1960 qualifies as a vintage year for off-beat doings in the state.

And where better to start than with some pretty odd Christmas themes?

Back in March a Pittsburgh man was sentenced to serve one to three years in prison for shoplifting two suits from a department store. He told the judge: "I just wanted to dress up for Christmas and I was out of a job."

POSTMAN FED UP

In April a man in Franklin was sentenced to 10 days in jail because he couldn't pay a fine for disorderly conduct. When asked his name, the short, stout fellow with red nose and snowy beard replied, "Santa Clause." No kidding, he said.

A temporary postman in Philadelphia this month was fed up to the teeth with the volume of holiday mail. People jumped him for wrong deliveries. All this confused and upset him. In the end he dumped a batch of mail down a sewer.

Youngsters got a good play in headlined wackiness. Take that two-year-old boy in Glen Rock. When he burped his baby-sitter smelled something funny on his breath. She asked him to show her what he had been drinking. Blithely, he led her to the front lawn and pointed to a power mower. The child had been sucking gasoline out of the tank through two straws. He suffered no ill effects.

STABBED BY CHAIR

A 14-year-old Philadelphia boy

was sitting in a chair watching television when a steel spring in the cushion snapped and stabbed him in the leg.

Mrs. Bertha Nixon of Altoona just couldn't make up her mind which way to go in the November election. She has one grandson named Richard Nixon, another Jack Kennedy.

The Chamber of Commerce in Mechanicsburg, central Pennsylvania village, asked the council to pass a law forbidding anyone to squirt ketchup out of a water pistol. The chamber said a lot of fine people had been doused with the stuff at a mid-year community shindig. The council said sorry, no can do.

OTHER ODDITIES

The year's calendar of the singular included these, too:

The Fayette County commissions asked a chorewoman to quit because she was running a hair-dressing business in the courthouse.

The Allegheny County Park Commission hired a lifeguard named Ronald Drown.

A driver for a Pittsburgh dairy, plugging a low-calorie frozen dessert, picked up this note on his route: "Milkman—please leave that half gallon of skinny ice cream today instead of Friday. I have to get into a tight dress until then."

MUSICAL DISCORD

In Philadelphia's Academy of Music a little, white-haired man in the balcony was so carried away by the orchestra's playing of Weber's "Oberon" overture that he cried "bravo" at the wrong time. In the midst of the next number he did the same thing, but used a different word, and this time from a box in which he had managed to slip

PRIEST REPAYS ADOPTED U. S.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United States Treasury is $73,000 richer because of an immigrant priest's gratitude for his opportunities in this country.

The sum was willed to the United States by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael J. Macken, who died in 1958 at the age of 82 after having served as pastor of St. Clara's Roman Catholic Church in Clarendon, Pa.

Msgr. Macken's attorney, Daniel T. Brahaney of Johnsonburg, turned over $68,000 of the bequest Thursday to the U. S. attorney's office here.

Msgr. Macken, who came to the United States from Ireland while still in his 20s, left an estate of $151,769.

After leaving several bequests to relatives, Msgr. Macken set aside $73,000 in his will for the government, explaining that it was "in grateful acknowledgment of the opportunity to prosper both spiritually and materially which this great country has afforded me and the members of my religion and nationality."

without disturbing its proper occupants.

For the next offering, Beethoven's Seventh Symphony, he turned up on the first floor, once more shouting his admiration while everybody else gaped and muttered annoyance increased. An usher and a policeman hustled him out.

"Can't I cheer if I want to?" he demanded. "This is ridiculous."

And from Lancaster, so rich in folklore, came the news that a young Amishman was building a hot rod buggy, which is one way of getting around the sect's disapproval of automobiles. The buggy had high and low headlamp beams, turn signals at the back, a dome light switched on by the opening of a door, and a cigar lighter.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A small lift truck toppled off a platform Friday and landed on top of Arthur Hassel, 45, of Woodbury, N.J., the driver, killing him. He died of chest injuries, doctors said.

GIBBSTOWN, N. J. (AP)—An oxidizer blew up Friday night in an isolated building well removed from other facilities of the E. I. DuPont Co.'s sprawling plant here, police said. There was no fire.

No one was injured, but the concussion from the explosion was felt in Essington, Pa., across the Delaware River.

Cause of the explosion was not immediately determined.

To Drill Hole Deep Into Earth's Core From Ship

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Tests will begin in March of the audacious plan to drill a hole deep into the earth from a ship at sea.

This plan is the Mohole—the first hole ever to penetrate all through the earth's crust to learn what mysteries lie in and below it.

It is "one of the most important scientific undertakings of modern times," Dr. Detlev Bronl, president of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, declared today.

START TESTS IN MARCH

The actual Mohole would be drilled from atop water perhaps 3½ miles deep, with special drills then biting 3 miles through the ocean floor to go below the earth's crust or outer skin for the first time.

Experimental drilling to test all the difficult techniques will start in March near Guadalupe Island off the western coast of Mexico, the National Science Foundation and Academy-Research Council announced today.

There the sea is 12,000 feet deep—2.3 miles. Holes looking for offshore oil have never been drilled before in water deeper than a few hundred feet.

CORE OF NICKEL, IRON

Several test holes to various depths are planned. A rotary drill working from a specially fitted ship will be used.

Digging the Mohole itself may come in a few years.

Mohole gets its name from the Mohorovicic discontinuity—Moho for short. The Moho is a boundary between the earth's thin crust and the underlying rock, the mantle, of unknown composition which extends 3,000 miles deep to the earth's core. (The core is presumably composed of nickel and iron.)

The Mohole-Moho hole—can be feasibly be drilled only at sea, for the earth's crust under the oceans is as little as 2½ to 3 miles thick, as against 15 to 20 miles on land masses. And the deepest oil well ever dug on land is only 4.7 miles.

The Mohole will try to bring up samples of the mantle, and to study the curious Moho boundary layer.

The drilling also could produce a rich history of life, evolution and climate changes on earth.

This can be done by bringing up and analyzing the sediments building up to 500 to 1,000 feet thickness over millions of years.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Judge Gerald F. Flood, 62, was sworn in Thursday for a 10-year term as a member of the State Superior Court.

Flood, a Democrat, was elected last Nov. 8. He served in the Philadelphia Common Pleas Court. He defeated incumbent Judge Blair F. Gunther of Pittsburgh.

Shoplifter Carries $17,000 In Wallet

BALTIMORE (AP)—A woman accused Friday of shoplifting a 79-cent pair of gloves could have bought about 25,000 pairs.

Police said a store detective saw the 42-year-old woman steal the gloves and arrested her. While questioning the woman, police inspected her pocketbook and found little plastic bags of money inside the lining.

After an hour and 15 minutes of counting, they came up with $17,583 in cash and $2,000 in $100 bonds.

The woman said the money was life savings which her husband told her never to let out of sight. The store dropped charges.

Receives New Trial On Bribery Charges

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A McKees Rocks dentist will receive a new trial—this one with a jury—on charges of trying to bribe two University of Pittsburgh basketball players.

A three-judge panel in Allegheny County Court Friday ordered the trial for Dr. Edward H. Sebastian, 32. Sebastian was convicted by Visiting Judge Elhan A. Gearhart of Lehigh County Sept. 29 in a non-jury trial.

Sebastian was accused of trying to get John Fridley of Sharon and Dick Falsenki of Latrobe to shave points in Pitt basketball games. Sebastian is a former instructor at Pitt's Dental School.

Says Discoverer 17 Burned Up In Space

HASCOM FIELD, Mass. (AP)—The National Space Surveillance Control Center says the Air Force Satellite Discoverer 17 burned up in the atmosphere Wednesday.

The center said Friday the satellite apparently was consumed between its 720th and 725th revolutions. That left 34 man-made objects in orbit around the earth, including one Soviet and 16 U.S. satellites.

Home Economist Writes Of Furniture, Medical Costs

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Home Economist

Who is an "average" furniture buyer? Some facts on spending and costs can help families understand the furniture dollar and what it buys.

Kitchen appliances are not considered furniture, neither are pictures, sofa pillows, curtains, draperies, or fabric by the yard. Not even rugs may be counted. The average furniture buyer spends $15 out of every $1,000 he earns on wood, metal, or upholstered furniture.

Mrs. Tunison

Most families buy some furniture more or less continuously—a lamp now, a chair in the spring, a table for another time. They also buy new furniture in spurts. Newly married couples buy some basic pieces; after a recent move by the family they add more pieces. Children at the growing-up stage and children leaving home are common causes for furniture changes and additions. Between these buying spurts, families may occasionally add or change pieces.

CREDIT BUYING

The furniture dollar buys as much today as it did 10 years ago. Eighty-five per cent of the sales are made on time, and seasonal sales help to make furniture buys attractive.

What do these facts add up to? Furniture is durable and stays with a family a long time so each item needs careful thought and selection.

Medical costs per person are over 1.5 times more for older than for younger farm families, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

A nationwide survey conducted by USDA and the Bureau of the Census indicated medical costs for farm families in which the farm operators were 65 years of age or older averaged $92 a year per person, those of all others $59.

MEDICAL INSURANCE

Among farm families in which the farm operator was 65 or older, 12.5 per cent of the family net income was spent for medical items. The proportion for all other younger families was about 9 per cent. Only 37 per cent of the older families, compared with 55 per cent of younger families, had any kind of medical insurance.

Increases in the cost of medical expenditures for farm families between 1935 and 1955 were more than four times as great as increases in all farm-family consumption expenses. Medical costs rose 178 per cent, all consumption costs 41 per cent.

These are among findings in the nationwide survey, reported and analyzed in "The Older Farm Family and Medical Costs," Agriculture Information Bulletin No. 235, issued by USDA. The report was prepared for use in conjunction with the White House Conference on Aging to be held in January, and is based on recent nationwide information available on the medical expenditures of farm families.

Patrick Henry To Sail With H-Bombs

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—The nuclear-powered and nuclear-armed submarine Patrick Henry is sliding silently beneath the surface of the Atlantic Ocean today, ready to launch her powerful Polaris missiles at any aggressor.

The big sub was sent to sea on a war-ready basis Friday, joining her sister sub, the George Washington, and doubling this nation's striking power from under-sea launching sites.

Both the Patrick Henry and the George Washington carry 16 Polaris missiles with hydrogen bomb

3 CHILDREN DIE IN FLAMES

NEW YORK (AP)—Emma Hardison, 31, wanted to slip out to the nearby grocery store. Separated from her husband, she had no one to look after her three children, but they seemed safely absorbed in watching television.

When she got back to her Bronx apartment less than 10 minutes later, it was in flames.

She opened the door and heard her son Jerome, 5, scream "Mommie, mommie!" but the flames forced her from the door.

NO ORIGIN OF PLAZE

She and a neighbor tried to enter via the fire escape, but again were turned back by flames and heat.

Firemen who put out the blaze shortly afterward found the body of Jerome and his sisters, Karen, 4, and Sylvia, 3.

No one knew, as the last day of 1960 dawned, just what had caused the fire.

Proposes New Plan For Depressed Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. James E. Van Zandt, R-Pa., has proposed a new plan for aid to distressed areas, with states matching federal funds.

Administration of the program, estimated to cost $150 in federal funds the first five years, would rest with the states rather than a federal agency, Van Zandt said Thursday.

The plan calls for state and federal governments to provide up to 90 per cent of the cost of establishing new industry in distressed areas.

Of this, the federal government would provide half and the state government half. The remaining 10 per cent would be provided by local sources.

Finds Dog After 400 Mile Trip And Hunt

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A boy travelled homeward today with his dog after traveling 400 miles to find the pet.

Alex Borsi, 13, of Jersey City, N. J., was given bus fare by his father, Jen, as a Christmas present so he could search for Wanderer, a pet which had been left with friends when the Borsi family moved from Buffalo.

After talking with police in suburban Tonawanda, Alex spent Thursday night on a table at police headquarters, with a patrolman's coat as a blanket.

Newspapers and radio stations told of the search, and Wanderer was located Friday morning.

Alex, a seventh-grader, said he was "very happy" about finding his pet. He said the dog would have a large back yard in which to run and "will make an excellent watch dog."

The Borsis are Hungarians who fled their country during the 1956 uprising.

BELGIANS FEAR NEW VIOLENCE

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Belgians today uneasily awaited the new year, feeling it would bring new violence to the nation torn by strikes and political squabbling.

The strikes and violence which have raged for 12 days throughout Belgium showed signs of easing during the holiday, but the grave political differences remain as large as ever.

The first week of the new year brings several events officials fear could spark new violence.

GOES BEFORE PARLIAMENT

Premier Gaston Eyskens goes before Parliament Tuesday in an effort to ram through the government's controversial economic reform program of his Catholic-Liberal government over bitter Socialist opposition.

Socialist leaders have scheduled huge demonstrations and walkouts for Wednesday in Brussels and Antwerp.

The bloodiest fighting yet broke out in Brussels Friday. An orderly demonstration turned into a sprawling brawl with 3,000 rioters armed with stones and clubs pitted against mounted police wielding sabers. One man was killed and 12 persons were injured.

MILLBURN, N. J. (AP)—Professional astronomy has been the fulltime job of James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer at the Hayden Planetarium in New York, for only eight years.

Pickering worked 24 years for a big department store, rising to credit manager. But astronomy was something he steeped himself in since boyhood. He quit his store job eight years ago to make the stars his career.

He won a national award for his television series, "Astronomy and You," and has written two books about the heavens.

KISSING'S JUST A GAME

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Kissing is an increasingly important factor in many games, says an assistant professor of psychology at Bowling Green State University, but a strong element of chance also is present.

Thus, concludes Dr. Brian Sutton-Smith, no one is inclined to take the kissing too seriously. "We need to remember," says the professor, who is studying personality development, that this is the age of tongue-tied early dating. Kissing games provide a means for a socially acceptable relationship with the opposite sex."

NEGRO NAMED HOUSING CHIEF BY KENNEDY

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today names a Negro—first to be picked for a top job in the new administration—as chief of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Kennedy scheduled a late morning news conference for formal announcement of appointment of Robert C. Weaver, 51, now vice chairman of New York City's Housing and Redevelopment Board. He has a Harvard doctor of philosophy degree.

He also has served for the past year as national chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

HARRIMAN IS ENVOY
Selection of Weaver became known Friday night after the president-elect had chosen W. Averell Harriman, former envoy to the Soviet Union and former governor of New York, to serve as his roving ambassador on important special missions abroad.

Kennedy said the overseas assignments he has in mind for Harriman will be carried out by a man "who has the full confidence of the president and an intimate knowledge of all aspects of United States policy."

It will cost Weaver $1,500 in salary reduction to take over direction of federal housing program. His New York position pays $22,500 annually compared with $21,000 in the new position.

IS IMPORTANT POST
Norman P. Mason is administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency in the outgoing Eisenhower administration. The agency has policy supervision over the operations of the Federal Housing Administration, the Public Housing Administration, and the Federal National Mortgage Association.

Weaver was trained as an economist at Harvard. He was a New Deal brain trust in the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration in 1933, serving first as an aide to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. Later he was a special assistant in such agencies as the Housing Division of the Works Progress Administration, the National Defense Advisory Commission, the War Production Board and the War Manpower Commission.

ANOTHER HARVARD MAN
Kennedy reportedly is about ready to pick still another Harvard man — McGeorge Bundy, dean of the faculty of arts and sciences — to be his special assistant in charge of national security matters.

Kennedy sprinkled the New Year holiday weekend with a mixture of business engagements and plans for more relaxation on the golf course and at a football game.

On Monday the president-elect will fly to Miami for the Missouri-Navy Orange Bowl game. Kennedy, a World War II Navy veteran, will be rooting for the midshipmen.

Kennedy was host overnight to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late president. Roosevelt told reporters he had not been offered a job in the new administration.

It was learned, meanwhile, that Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia is under consideration — among others — for the post of secretary of the Army.

Woman Who Made Fortune In Sardines To Launch First American Steamship Co.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP)—Sixteen years ago a comely blonde with a Zsa Zsa Gabor-like accent peddled fish to Manhattan wholesale houses. On good sales she made as much as $8 on her crates of sardines.

Eight years later this same Mrs. Magnus Konow owned two tankers and the nickname, "Oilboat Olga." And a puzzled Senate investigating committee was publicly marveling at how she had turned a $1,000 investment into $300,000 in commissions from sales of government boats.

Today Oilboat Olga is back in the money-hunting business. After several years of retirement in Europe, she is about to launch the first American flag steamship company headed by a woman. That is, she will as soon as she raises more capital.

DIDN'T DANCE HERSELF
"I've always directed things I didn't know anything about at first," reflects the still glamorous Olga in looking back to her girlhood in mid-Europe. "When I was 14 I was trying to make already a dance studio."

The fact that she herself could not dance did not deter her in the least. At 15 she played a piano in a silent movie house, but talks ruined this career.

Olga DID know how to play the piano, though; even studied to be an orchestra conductor in Prague until World War II. Her first marriage dissolved after seven years and Olga came to the states.

MARRIED A YACHTSMAN

Here she found and married handsome Norwegian yachtsman Magnus Konow. "But I had some trouble with the money. I wanted a bit more than he had."

So she set up a one-room office as an agent for Norwegian sardines. Her secretary lonesomely filed her nails all day, she recalls, while she peddled her crates.

At night Olga sat with her Olympics medal winning yachtsman husband and his shipping magnate friends, listening to them talk their million dollar deals.

DIDN'T HAVE CASH
"My gosh, so I earned again $8 on the sardines," I'd sigh. One morning I told my husband I was going to go into the boat business even though I didn't have the cash.

"It was chance, good luck, optimism and courage really. I played with some blocks. Suddenly they fell into place."

In other words, she whipped up some stockholders and bought those oilboats for charter. But she made costly mistakes because she was ignorant about the business.

DIRTY SHIP?

"Somebody called to charter my ship to haul gasoline. Do I have a clean ship, he wanted to know. Oh my gosh, of course. What kind of an insult is that? I signed the contract. Then somebody told me my oil tanker would never do for gas. It cost me $30,000 to clean my dirty ship!"

But that's about the last money that Oilboat Olga lost on a deal. She learned fast enough to pick up a quick buck in brokerage fees by bringing buyers and sellers together for those three controversial government tankers in 1952.

Shortly thereafter she sold her stock in her two-tanker American Viking Corp. because "they offered me more money than I ever saw before." For too long she basked at Monte Carlo in summers, Norway winters. Then she was restless, lonesome for the land of opportunity.

Today Oilboat Olga feminine intuition is telling her that again is the time to make many, many dollars in the shipping business. Not long ago a charwoman from Manchester, England, sent Olga a pound note to see how fast she could make it multiply. If the American banks has this much faith in her, she says she will be on her way again.

TV WIFE HAS PROBLEMS OFF STAGE AS WELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Wives who think they have no trouble with one husband might consider the plight of Marjorie Lord. She has two.

It isn't that the redhaired actress confuses her television husband, comedian Danny Thomas, with her spouse of private life, Randolph Hale, a San Francisco theater producer.

But her fans do. "Your husband just left," someone will call out to her helpfully as she and Hale leave a studio or theater together. They mean Danny, of course.

SENSE OF HUMOR

"Fortunately," comments Marjorie, "Danny's wife, Rosemary, is a nice girl with a sense of humor. She thinks it's all very funny. After all, they've been happily married for 25 years and have three children."

Marjorie admits she handles the two husbands differently. In the television comedy series the technique goes this way:

"I coax Danny, tell him he's adorable and almost make love to him. He stands there with a big dumb look on his face and I kiss him and put him out the door, knowing he'll do what I suggest. "But my own husband would catch on a lot sooner. In real life, you've got to be more subtle."

MULTIPLE OFFSPRING

Adding to the two-husband complications is that of multiple offspring. Marjorie has two teen-age children from a previous marriage and two stepchildren. And in the television series she is the mother of three. "I yell at them as if they were my own," she says fondly.

Her own youngsters take it all in stride. "They're blasé, critical and proud," Marjorie says, "but not terribly impressed. For years they went to school with children whose parents were really famous—and I was still struggling. But I'm just as happy it took me a long time. I'm a better person for it."

You can stretch a package of frozen peas by cooking some diced celery with the peas. The celery won't get soft in the time it takes the peas to cook but its crunchiness will be a pleasant texture contrast.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A call for Arab countries to construct their own joint atomic reactor to counter Israel's nuclear efforts drew cheers in the Lebanese Parliament Thursday night.

Deputy Nuha Bweiz made the suggestion in a discussion of nuclear developments in Israel and Jewish immigration.

NEGRO NAMED HOUSING CHIEF BY KENNEDY

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today names a Negro—first to be picked for a top job in the new administration—as chief of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Kennedy scheduled a late morning news conference for formal announcement of appointment of Robert C. Weaver, 51, now vice chairman of New York City's Housing and Redevelopment Board. He has a Harvard doctor of philosophy degree.

He also has served for the past year as national chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

HARRIMAN IS ENVOY

Selection of Weaver became known Friday night after the president-elect had chosen W. Averell Harriman, former envoy to the Soviet Union and former governor of New York, to serve as his roving ambassador on important special missions abroad.

Kennedy said the overseas assignments he has in mind for Harriman will be carried out by a man "who has the full confidence of the president and an intimate knowledge of all aspects of United States policy."

It will cost Weaver $1,500 in salary reduction to take over direction of federal housing program. His New York position pays $22,500 annually compared with $21,000 in the new position.

IS IMPORTANT POST

Norman P. Mason is administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency in the outgoing Eisenhower administration. The agency has policy supervision over the operations of the Federal Housing Administration, the Public Housing Administration, and the Federal National Mortgage Association.

Weaver was trained as an economist at Harvard. He was a New Deal brain trust in the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration in 1935, serving first as an aide to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. Later he was a special assistant in such agencies as the Housing Division of the Works Progress Administration, the National Defense Advisory Commission, the War Production Board and the War Manpower Commission.

ANOTHER HARVARD MAN

Kennedy reportedly is about ready to pick still another Harvard man — McGeorge Bundy, dean of the faculty of arts and sciences — to be his special assistant in charge of national security matters.

Kennedy sprinkled the New Year holiday weekend with a mixture of business engagements and plans for more relaxation on the golf course and at a football game.

On Monday the president-elect will fly to Miami for the Missouri-Navy Orange Bowl game. Kennedy, a World War II Navy veteran, will be rooting for the midshipmen.

Kennedy was host overnight to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late president. Roosevelt told reporters he had not been offered a job in the new administration.

It was learned, meanwhile, that Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia is under consideration — among others — for the post of secretary of the Army.

Woman Who Made Fortune In Sardines To Launch First American Steamship Co.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen years ago a comely blonde with a Zsa Zsa Gabor-like accent peddled fish to Manhattan wholesale houses. On good sales she made as much as $8 on her crates of sardines.

Eight years later this same Mrs. Magnus Konow owned two tankers and the nickname, "Oilboat Olga." And a puzzled Senate investigating committee was publicly marveling at how she had turned a $1,000 investment into $300,000 in commissions from sales of government boats.

Today Oilboat Olga is back in the money-hunting business. After several years of retirement in Europe, she is about to launch the first American flag steamship company headed by a woman. That is, she will as soon as she raises more capital.

DIDN'T DANCE HERSELF

"I've always directed things I didn't know anything about at first," reflects the still glamorous Olga in looking back to her girlhood in mid-Europe. "When I was 14 I was trying to make already a dance studio."

The fact that she herself could not dance did not deter her in the least. At 15 she played a piano in a silent movie house, but talkies ruined this career.

Olga DID know how to play the piano, though; even studied to be an orchestra conductor in Prague until World War II. Her first marriage dissolved after seven years and Olga came to the states.

MARRIED A YACHTSMAN

Here she found and married handsome Norwegian yachtsman Magnus Konow. "But I had some trouble with the money. I wanted a bit more than he had."

So she set up a one-room office as an agent for Norwegian sardines. Her secretary lonesomely filed her nails all day, she recalls, while she peddled her crates.

At night Olga sat with her Olympic medal winning yachtsman husband and his shipping magnate friends, listening to them talk their million dollar deals.

DIDN'T HAVE CASH

"My gosh, so I earned again $8 on the sardines," I'd sigh. One morning I told my husband I was going to go into the boat business even though I didn't have the cash."

"It was chance, good luck, optimism and courage really. I played with some blocks. Suddenly they fell into place."

In other words, she whipped up some stockholders and bought those oilboats for charter. But she made costly mistakes because she was ignorant about the business.

DIRTY SHIP?

"Somebody called to charter my ship to haul gasoline. Do I have a clean ship, he wanted to know. Oh my gosh, of course. What kind of an insult is that? I signed the contract. Then somebody told me my oil tanker would never do for gas. It cost me $30,000 to clean my dirty ship!"

But that's about the last money that Oilboat Olga lost on a deal. She learned fast enough to pick up a quick buck in brokerage fees by bringing buyers and sellers together for those three controversial government tankers in 1952.

Shortly thereafter she sold her stock in her two-tanker American Viking Corp. because "they offered me more money than I ever saw before." For too long she basked at Monte Carlo in summers, Norway winters. Then she was restless, lonesome for the land of opportunity.

Today Oilboat Olga feminine intuition is telling her that again is the time to make many, many dollars in the shipping business. Not long ago a charwoman from Manchester, England, sent Olga a pound note to see how fast she could make it multiply. If the American banks has this much faith in her, she says she will be on her way again.

TV WIFE HAS PROBLEMS OFF STAGE AS WELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Wives who think they have no trouble with one husband might consider the plight of Marjorie Lord. She has two.

It isn't that the redhaired actress confuses her television husband, comedian Danny Thomas, with her spouse of private life, Randolph Hale, a San Francisco theater producer.

But her fans do. "Your husband just left," someone will call out to her helpfully, as she and Hale leave a studio or theater together. They mean Danny, of course.

SENSE OF HUMOR

"Fortunately," comments Marjorie, "Danny's wife, Rosemary, is a nice girl with a sense of humor. She thinks it's all very funny. After all, they've been happily married for 25 years and have three children."

Marjorie admits she handles the two husbands differently. In the television comedy series the technique goes this way:

"I coax Danny, tell him he's adorable and almost make love to him. He stands there with a big dumb look on his face and I kiss him and put him out the door, knowing he'll do what I suggest. "But my own husband would catch on a lot sooner. In real life, you've got to be more subtle."

MULTIPLE OFFSPRING

Adding to the two-husband complications is that of multiple offspring. Marjorie has two teen-age children from a previous marriage and two stepchildren. And in the television series she is the mother of three. "I yell at them as if they were my own," she says fondly.

Her own youngsters take it all in stride. "They're blasé, critical and proud," Marjorie says, "but not terribly impressed. For years they went to school with children whose parents were really famous—and I was still struggling. But I'm just as happy I took me a long time. I'm a better person for it."

You can stretch a package of frozen peas by cooking some diced celery with the peas. The celery won't get soft in the time it takes the peas to cook but its crunchiness will be a pleasant texture contrast.

Boy Accidentally Shot By Own Dog

WEBSTER, Mass. (AP)—Neil Larini, 15, was shot by a dog Friday.

The youth's 12-gauge shotgun was leaning against a tree. His hand was above the muzzle. The dog's paw hit the trigger and the gun discharged.

Young Larini lost his little finger and part of the palm of his left hand.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A call for Arab countries to construct their own joint atomic reactor to counter Israel's nuclear efforts drew cheers in the Lebanese Parliament Thursday night.

Deputy Nuhad Bweiz made the suggestion in a discussion of nuclear developments in Israel and Jewish immigration.

Premier Saeb Salam told the house that continued immigration of Jews to Israel could be more dangerous to the Arab world than an atomic bomb.

Expect The Unexpected With Como

By CHARLES J. LEAVY

If ever you have the opportunity to meet Perry Como personally, be prepared to be pleasantly surprised in one way or another. Those who have been associated with him for many years will confirm the fact that he never fails to amaze his friends not only with his mild mannerisms under the most trying circumstances, but with his uncanny knack for coming up with unexpected statements or actions.

Known as "Mr. Nice Guy" not only to his fans but to the over 248 associates — actors, stagehands, writers, dancers and clerical workers—who go into the production of his weekly show, Perry has more than earned this appellation.

SOFT SPOKEN, WARM

Actually, if you've seen him on television, you can consider yourself as having met him personally; unassuming, soft spoken, warm, talented with a natural sense of humor. He's relaxed and easygoing, although he once told a newspaperman, "I'm not relaxed, 'I'm just tired!'" During television rehearsals or record cuttings, Perry's quiet good humor is never lost, yet he's known among television people and musicians to be a tireless and careful worker who can kid one minute and next make craftsmanlike suggestions on script, camera, balance and tempo.

His patience and true fondness for fans provide the key to the man's personality. He'd rather be late for rehearsal or an appointment than fluff them off; they snap their cameras and press him for autographs at the stage door.

GRANTS INTERVIEWS

Despite the stature he has attained in the entertainment field, he still finds time to afford the press interviews. In our particular case, an original interview had to be cancelled because of sickness in the family. He not only gracefully accepted our excuse but set a new time immediately, and sent a telegram wishing speedy recovery.

But this is Perry Como; this was Perry Como way back in his home town of Canonsburg, Pa., in the early years when as a barber, he entertained his customers with a song while cutting their hair—and in the same relaxed manner, if the mood moved him, would pick up a guitar and sing and play a song to the delight of all those around him.

UNEXPECTED INCIDENTS

Perry's relaxed manner has come to be expected. However, when one enterprising reporter commented on his casual manner and asked him what he thinks about as he confronts an audience, he received a typical unexpected Como retort: "I'm thinking about lying down, but there's no place to lie so I stand up."

The Como Family: Terri, Perry, Roselle, Ronnie and David

Of course, a glance at Perry's rise to fame will reveal a series of unexpected incidents from his first audition with a local Ohio band in 1933 right up to his first radio contract with CBS.

Perry was on vacation when he auditioned as a singer for Freddy Carlone's Band. He had no intention, at the time, of pursuing a singing career since his barber shop business was prospering. However, he was offered a job by Carlone and despite his thriving business, accepted the offer.

JOINED WEEMS BAND

He developed a strong following in Ohio for a number of years and in 1936, joined the Ted Weems Band. He recalls one momentous engagement at the New York Strand when the band shared the bill with Ann Sheridan. To Perry Como, this was the big time!

But again, in his career the unexpected occurred. Having married his childhood sweetheart, Roselle Belline in 1933, they were blessed with their first child in 1940. Perry was weary of traveling. His home life was a haphazard thing. He was eager for a normal quiet life. One day before he was to sign the lease for another barber shop, General Artists Corporation contacted him offering Perry his own CBS radio show and an RCA Victor recording contract. Roselle persuaded him to accept the offer with the old clincher, "You can always get another barber shop if it doesn't work out." The result is well known. Canonsburg lost a good barber; the world got a great entertainer.

HAS SENSE OF VALUES

Fame hasn't tarnished Perry's sense of values. His contributions of time and money to benefits and charities are great but infrequently publicized—he prefers it that way. Roselle's charitable works are just as great. In this respect, the penchant for the unexpected must have rubbed off on her as well. One warm summer day Perry came home looking forward to a cool dip in the pool. To his amazement he not only was not allowed to take a dip but was confined by Roselle to the other side of the house. The reason: Roselle had invited a group of nuns from a nearby convent for an outing and swim.

Although he doesn't own a dinner jacket "Where would I wear it?" he had to buy a new tuxedo in 1956 to receive the award as "Personality of the Year" by the Variety Club of Washington, D. C. During the Washington visit he sang in a children's polio ward at a city hospital. He spoke at length with a four-year-old patient and later learned that the boy's parents were poor and unable to meet the medical expenses. That night, unexpectedly, at the dinner, he told the audience about the child and offered to auction off his new tuxedo, proceeds to go to the youngster. The tuxedo brought in over $2,500. A man of great faith, Perry admits: "I have the things money can buy now, but the things money can't buy, I've always had."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
By Marshall Tuckey

"Please eat and have good health" was the expression used by the Russian people. It was traditional to serve their meals with huge platters and tureens.

All the people of the countries of Northeastern Europe eat hearty meals. The tricks they do with cabbage and sour cream distinguish them from the rest of the world. You don't have to like sour cream to enjoy their cooking because it can't be recognized. It simply adds a slightly unusual flavor to the food.

Plan to have your New Year's Day dinner here. Our specials — Roast Goose or Roast Pork.
